

ORIS ORIS

LIFE BETWEEN LIVES

SOUL IN THE HIGHER WORLDS

What Oris Oris writes about in the books of the cycle «Life between Lives» is the most detailed, ever written by a person, descriptions of the entire sequence of events that the Consciousness of a deceased person undergoes when he returns to his Heavenly Home, which has so many «abodes», that an ordinary person cannot even imagine this. Oris Oris, using his long-term individual experience of astro-traders, describes in detail the realities of the Astral and Mental that he investigated, transforming the Incomprehensible-Unknowable Existence into Knowledge, accessible to the understanding of almost every person and leading him to a gradual realization of the immutable Truth of his infinite Cosmic Existence.

HARMONIOUS REALITIES OF THE MENTAL

Paradise

“And Jesus said: The sky is not far away; and he has no limits and boundaries; it is not a country to be reached, it is a state of mind. God never created evil; we ourselves create what we own.

Do not look for paradise in heaven; just open the windows of your hearts, and the sky will come like a stream of light and bring boundless joy ... «

(Gospel of Jesus Christ of the Aquarian Age, 33: 8-10)

All our earthly Life is only an accurate and consistent fulfillment of the Law of Seeding and Harvesting: everything that we have done in Life is just sowing, the harvest from which will be the experience of our further existence in this or any other reality. THIS is directly related to our entire posthumous Life, passing through many Worlds of the Subtle Plan, both the grossest and practically indistinguishable from the primitive conditions of earthly existence, and not imaginably different from it in the level of the highest culture and spirituality of the Consciousnesses that make up the Mind of these realities.

In addition to the Worlds of the Astral Plane of the Earth, which we have already described in sufficient detail, there are also realities generalized in some religious confessions under the name “Worlds of Pure and Perfect Spirits”. These are terrestrial civilizations developing in parallel with those that, due to their karmic and evolutionary reasons, as well as incarnated humanity, master the densest dimensions of Space-Time of the Earth, but have reached much higher orders in their Evolution.

They can open to a highly developed humanoid Consciousness, independently and purposefully exploring the Thin Plan, only very gradually, step by step, until this Consciousness itself, rising along the vibrations of its higher psychic centers, independently and harmoniously approaches them. All of them are completely incomprehensible to our primitive three-dimensional understanding, and there are simply no words that could find even weak comparisons to convey what I happened to meet and get to know THERE.

We have already written that any Consciousness that voluntarily made a decision for itself to begin to develop in a humanoid branch, to which the Collective Consciousness of humanity of the Earth belongs, must gradually master various qualitative and energetic degrees of density, which at the levels of 3-5 dimensions of Space we are accustomed to call “Matter”, Taking all kinds of forms of expression, characteristic of each of the many realities of any of the levels they CONSCIOUSLY master. This is necessary in order to form in oneself absolutely the entire range of twelve Pure Cosmic Qualities, to work out and harmonize them in oneself, in order to continue their further evolution, guided by the extensive experiences gained in each of these realities.

After the physical Death of the embodied personality, each of the chakram Consciousnesses that formed this personality as the so-called “Aspect Souls” gradually self-purifies from the energy qualities that are not characteristic of his individuality, which the embodied personality has accumulated during his stay in the coarsest layers of the Earth’s Matter, and then, obeying the Law of Similarity, is attracted to the spiritual communities that are most harmonious for him, formed according to the principle Harmony and greatest resonance. Conducting an active creative activity in this type of reality, Consciousness gradually assimilates all the experience of existence received on Earth and, improving through self-knowledge, moves to a qualitatively higher level of reality.

In the absence or insufficiently thorough elaboration of some of the twelve Qualities, an uncomfortable state is automatically formed within Consciousness, naturally generating in it an awareness of the need to urgently master the astral-mental material that is absent in it, which could qualitatively compensate and harmonize the resulting destruction.

This creative impulse forces Consciousness to turn again to the Idea of embodied existence as part of a certain COMPLEX earthly personality, whose individual characteristics would coincide with the goals of the development of this Consciousness, in order, thanks to new experience, to gain even greater maturity and new sources of Spiritual strength to overcome increasingly difficult situations and solving more and more difficult problems of the infinite Cosmic Existence.

So human Consciousness, constantly creating more and more human Soul-aspects for each of its manifestations, then “soars” to the higher Planes of its existence, then again “descends” along the qualitative levels of Matter. Moreover, after each of such disincarnations, it rises higher and higher in the circles of its evolutionary spiral, and the higher it ascends, the stronger vibrations of Love and Light it begins to radiate around itself, burning out egoism and ignorance in its Spiritual Fire. And so on until they reach the highest Peak, at which all Consciousness must reunite with the primordial Fire of the Source of the First Creator.

We have already reported that all the realities of our visible and invisible Universe are formed from the active interaction of two incredible Principles or Forces, which, serving one Single Purpose, interpenetrate and interconnect with each other. But at the same time they do not mix in any way and do not lose their own, originally assigned to them, individual qualities. These two main Principles in the limited language of human concepts can be represented as the Power of the Spirit emanating from the Prime Creator Himself, and the Great Wave of Life formed by the Primordial Source as a result of the manifested activity of the first Principle and permeating the entire Space-Time of our Universe. At each of its descent into the coarse Matter of the Physical Plane, Consciousness not only puts itself in conditions forcing it to active self-development, but also exerts a spiritualizing effect on the quality of the material form itself, embodied by the earthly personality.

Each of these dense forms is a material manifestation of the Great Wave of Life, which, in turn, also continuously self-develops more and more higher forms for its manifestation and self-realization in Matter of this type. The Wave of Life rhythmically and synchronously rolls through the Kingdoms of minerals, plants, animals, as well as the Kingdoms of man and the Individual Cosmic Spirit, continuously creating more and more new and more perfect forms for self-development and self-improvement of the Mind, until, finally, again, carried away by the Power of the Spirit, will not return to the arms of God the First Creator, from where it once originated. These two evolutionary Principles - the Power of the Spirit and the Wave of Life - coexisting and self-creating side by side, are in our Universe the main driving forces of the Evolution of Consciousness of any type.

We mentioned this only to remind you of that grandiose and inconceivably striking difference that separates all of us, fussing about in an endless heap of our own grounded Thought-forms, from the Higher (for our star system) realities, into which the most developed of representatives of earthly humanity and which we naively and wretchedly call «RAI». None of the descriptions of these Higher realities available in religious and esoteric literature reflects even a thousandth part of the Truth concerning this qualitative level of the existence of Consciousness. The primitive description of the Christian “paradise” can be attributed with a great stretch only to the mid-astral levels, and even then only as a rough scheme for describing one of the aspects of the posthumous life of the so-called. «The righteous.»

Thus, the famous Russian saint Tikhon Zadonsky (died in 1783) also left notes about a certain “City of Heaven” (“Heavenly Jerusalem”), acquaintance with which to some extent complement our story about the most beautiful and most indescribably magnificent of all, Worlds around us:

«In Heavenly Jerusalem there is no fear of foreigners, no fear of enemies, no danger from illness, death, hunger, coldness, poverty, enmity, hatred, anger and other evils; complaints are not heard there, crying, sorrow and sighing are gone. about food, drink, clothing, about home and home; there is no storm and bad weather, but always a favorable bucket; there is no morning, evening, night, but always day; there is no autumn and winter, but always a beautiful and good-natured spring and summer; one cannot hear, nothing is seen, nothing is felt there, except perhaps auspicious, cheerful and amiable.

There is a sun without clouds, light without darkness, radiance without haze; there is no old, blind, lame, weakened, ugly, but everything in blooming youth, red kindness and the age of a husband is perfect, in proportion to the age of fulfillment of Christ; there no one will offend, take offense, do not hate, do not hate it, does not get angry, does not annoy, does not get embittered; no one envies anyone, everyone is content with what he has, does not desire, he is comforted by that bliss that does not ascend higher, he is crowned with that glory and honor that he does not seek.

In that glorious and most blessed citizenship there is the most perfect silence, peace, love between blessed citizens, joy, joy and merriment about each other; because they love each other as they love themselves, they rejoice at each other as if they love themselves: for they see each other in bliss, as they see themselves».

Taking into account some corrections to the historical level of this evidence and the unfamiliarity of some ideas of people of that time for the Consciousness of a modern civilized person, this description, albeit to a very weak, grounded degree, somehow resembles what each time appeared before my spiritual gaze in the time of visiting in the mental body numerous realities of the most amazing and wonderful of all Worlds - the Mental.

About Paradise, the Buddha Himself spoke in a simplified allegorical way: "For many thousands of myriads of systems of Worlds from this (our) world there is a country of Bliss ... This country is surrounded by 7 rows of fences, 7 rows of huge curtains, 7 rows swaying trees ... There are 7 precious lakes in it, in the midst of which crystal waters flow, possessing a «family and one» property, and characteristic qualities (7 principles emanating from God).

Its divine flower takes root in the shadow of every land and blooms for all who get to it. Those born in this blessed land are truly happy - in that cycle, there is no more sorrow or suffering for them ... Myriads of spirits go there to rest and then return to their own regions ...»

Although the true state of human Consciousness after disembodiment in the Mental World has not the slightest resemblance either with "Paradise", or with "Heaven", or with "Devachan" of any of the religions, but in the absence of other words in the Russian language capable of to express at least very remotely this indescribable state of CREATIVE BLISS, we are simply forced to adhere to these traditional and familiar concepts for many people, constantly remembering that none of them in any way corresponds to the Truth.

What is meant in Christianity by one general concept of «PARADISE» is not at all unambiguous, homogeneous and monosyllabic, as many believers naively imagine: these are whole full-scale Worlds with their own Laws, planets and even entire planetary systems (Globes), on which entire continents, countries, seas, rivers, oceans, star systems, Galaxies, etc., etc. are located. After all, if you and I in this type of physical reality can be surrounded by the boundless stellar Space of the material Universe, then it is completely incomprehensible why human ideas about the Higher Worlds are so wretched and limited that they diminish them almost to the size of some country or even some utopian "A bright city with golden gates"?

In any of the subtle realities, the surrounding Cosmic Space, with all its inconceivable immensity and infinity, is much more accessible and closer than we have on Earth. “Local Space” has a completely different look and properties than that black “space breakthrough” with fine twinkling stars, which we are used to observing when looking at our night sky. There is nothing that can be attributed to black or dark color. There, the colors themselves are so vivid that it is difficult to designate them even with flowers - so great is the impression they make of complete self-awareness and individuality.

And this is the Truth: that which has no form, THERE is organized into separate energy-information flows, sparkling and iridescent with evolutionary colors and colors characteristic of their level of development. These endless dynamic flows are so harmonious that after a certain adaptation period you simply stop noticing them, although they are the main basis, essence and meaning of the entire surrounding Space. And you don't notice them, apparently, because very soon you yourself begin to actively engage in this harmonious and rhythmic movement of the Wave of Life, which naturally and unobtrusively draws you into the creative process of the entire community, in which not only human Consciousness, but also many representatives of other branches of development and types of Cosmic Mind.

What we define as a “step” of Paradise is that, actively supervised by the Higher Spiritual Beings, a part of the mental Sphere with strictly defined qualities of Matter, from which any low-frequency quality (evil, grief, suffering, etc.) is naturally excluded, and where a part of human (and other) Souls, who have managed to thoroughly cleanse themselves even during their earthly Life, or after Death, in Purgatory, from all their astral shells, and whose mental bodies correspond to the quality of Matter that constitutes this Stage of the One Reality, actively live ...

In our books we never tire of repeating that in the conditions of the numerous realities of the Earth, each effect is ALWAYS proportional to the cause that gave rise to it. And since the term of the embodied physical existence of human Consciousness on this planet is scanty small in comparison with the disembodied existence, then all harmonious, positive and good Thoughts, words and actions of a person in any of the realities on the planets of the Solar System will be natural causes of all consequences, for working out and working out which will take much more «time», sensory and mental efforts, than the earthly evolution of these causes themselves takes .

The first state of Consciousness (the presence of the Soul in the so-called “Worlds of Retribution”) associatively can last from several “minutes” to a number of “years” (once again, recall the relativity and even the absence of the concept of linear Time in other dimensions! there is no possibility to “tie” the concept of fluidity, extension and duration of something in the Subtle and Fiery Worlds to another, familiar to an ordinary person, then we are forced to resort to this limited and nonexistent concept, although, we repeat, all the references we cite for physical reality, time slices do NOT in any way reflect the Truth).

The second phase of posthumous existence is very «long» and is directly proportional to the evolutionary level, spiritual status of the Soul, its spiritual Power, as well as the quality of the emotional state of a person during his Death. The state of complete bliss lasts in proportion to the Karma accumulated by the manifested harmonious energies, after which the Soul-aspect realizes itself again in a new cycle of incarnations, manifesting many of its personal Consciousnesses at once and simultaneously (!) In several types of reality. That is, on all overtones (vibration levels or steps) the so-called. "Paradise" The Soul is equally subject to qualitative changes identical in their evolutionary essence: birth, flourishing, becoming, maturation, decay, old age and Death. After more or less complete passage of this cycle, the Consciousness of the Soul-aspect again plunges into a specific meditative-adaptive state, which precedes its new manifestation either on Earth, or in any of hundreds of other realities of this star system. Moreover, the form of incarnation is chosen in accordance with the existing individual balance of the twelve cosmic qualities (or Rays) being worked through.

But the highest levels of Paradise, after a more or less prolonged unconscious incubation period (or "period of spiritual maturation"), can only be appropriately purified, "blissful," "holy EGO," innocent and pure, like a newborn baby. That is, before entering this Inner Sphere of the Fiery World, Consciousness goes through a powerful and many-sided energy-informational filtration, the essence of which boils down to the most thorough qualitative study of ABSOLUTELY ALL types of energy that ever had the opportunity for emotional or mental manifestation throughout earthly life person.

The very fact of the active stay of the Consciousness of the deceased in these Higher Spheres indicates the powerful predominance of the principles of positivism ("good") over the manifestations of negativism ("evil") in his former earthly personality. And while the "negative" Karma accumulated by him temporarily recedes in order to follow the Soul-aspect in its next incarnations, the deceased brings with him to Paradise only the Karma of his kindest deeds, words and Thoughts.

"Good" and "bad" are very relative concepts for earthlings, rigidly squeezed and deliberately limited by the conditions of extreme representations of the duality of the physical Plane. Therefore, only the Law of Retribution is the only Law that, under the conditions of realities of a given level and type, never makes mistakes, since by providing the embodied Consciousnesses to receive extensive experience on Earth, it completely contributes only to their evolutionary growth.

The Law of Karma is a real reflection not only of our earthly life, but also of the entire World Life, with all its features and qualities at the most varied levels of dimension, which is NEVER cruel or punishing. Her mercy and help form the main foundation of the Law of Cause and Effect. We, by virtue of our own inherent egoism and ignorance, are accustomed to complaining about our Life, which, in the form of «undeserved blows of Fate», always suddenly and unexpectedly bursts into us with its peremptory cruelty and ruthlessness.

We forget (or do not know at all) that not a single “blow of Fate” ever falls on us accidentally or undeservedly, bringing with it cruel suffering. Everyone who is dying now from hunger and terrible diseases suffers so only because once he was already one of the components of the cause that led to hunger and diseases of hundreds and thousands of people. But he does not remember this and therefore considers himself unhappy, offended and oppressed by the “unjust” Life.

Fate is a pliable and plastic clay in your own hands, which, with a highly conscious and correct relationship with it, turns you not into a passive victim of a “fateful coincidence”, but into a sculptor-creator, originally gifted by God with the ability to create as oneself, and their Worlds. Every Consciousness has a Divine origin and all the characteristics of the Supreme Being are inherent in it, just as a drop has all the qualities of the primordial Ocean that surrounds the Earth.

Thought is the beginning of all things. EVERYTHING was created by Divine Thought. Each of us, like God the Creator, is a god at his own level of existence, which his COMPLEX Consciousness has reached, and is able to create with his Will and Thought not only the circumstances of his own Life, but also change his own reality at his own discretion. Our Higher Self is That which gives each person the opportunity to become the Son of God at some time. The Primordial Creator is One in Himself and we, his children, as a natural part of Him, are originally endowed with all the innumerable levels of His Consciousness.

The higher and more evolutionary Consciousness, the higher and wider its spiritual capabilities, and the more powerful and active its creative potential, based on the possibilities of free access to high levels of the Eternal Treasury of Divine Wisdom. Since any Thought feeding the Mind of a person with its Energy always manifests itself in some form, then at high levels of development of Consciousness, almost complete control of not only one’s own, but even someone else’s Fate becomes possible. By creatively changing our Destiny, we thereby actively influence the Destinies of the people around us, and the Destiny of our people, and the development of humanity as a whole.

Therefore, boldly transform all your bright and harmonious dreams into tangible exquisite forms and harmonious creations of Beauty, using your sublime fantasies as a true artist, and not as a primitive partner. If you are thoroughly mired in negativism, ignorance and self-interest, if you are indecisive and short-sighted in your high aspirations, then you are not worthy of the title of Co-Creator and then Fate (Fate) takes full control of you. There are no empty places in the Space. REMEMBER that any of the restrictions that annoy you were created not by someone, but only by yourself, and only you yourself can rid yourself of it, changing for the better not only the quality of your Thoughts, but also the quality of your whole Life.

The fate of a person depends not only on the many thousands of years of labor of his Soul, but also on the quality of the experience that he comprehends in this incarnation. That is why it is so dangerous and criminal to spew storms of our irrepressible passions, insatiable desires and bitterness of tears into the world around us. Whenever what comes to us is what is commonly called «the blow of Fate», «misfortune» or «Death», we should not inflame all our lower feelings and emotions in ourselves, but, on the contrary, try to clearly and brightly kindle the Fire of Eternal Love in our Heart and remember that that «glaring injustice», to the manifestation of which you have just approached in your personal Life, is just a manifestation of the results of the planned creativity of your own Soul.

In the same way, there is not a single senseless or unjustified Death, and the victims of all so-called «accidents» are always more than rewarded for the forced disembodiment in their posthumous existence, since they fall under the Law of Sacrifice. You should know and remember that a person dies «in his prime» mainly in three cases:

- or when his Soul, across the entire qualitative set of its chakram personalities, has already outgrown the highest possibilities of its own creativity, which were laid down in its physical body before incarnation (which often happens when a person has already completed the task of its incarnation);

- or when a person, following the desires and aspirations of his low-chakra personalities, has already overfilled himself beyond the permissible limit with ingrained passions and vices: hatred, aggressiveness, envy, greed, jealousy, denial and egoism so much that his further existence would greatly harm him yourself;

- or when his Death is needed in order to teach the survivors one or another visual Lesson of Wisdom, Love, Loyalty and Devotion to High Ideals.

Not a single living being, no matter what hierarchical cosmic level it occupies, can fall out of the action of the Universal Law of Karma, which does not lose its strength and relevance also at higher levels of the dimensionality of Space. The entire code of our moral laws, in its highly ideological basis, is also subject not to some kind of conditional justice, but to the Law of Expediency, according to which all the Stars, including our Sun, move.

A multi-millennial layer of sanctimonious hypocrisy and ignorant distrust, tightly covering the Hearts of millions of people from the dynamic and revitalizing Stream of high-vibrational Thoughts, does not allow the energies of more powerful and perfect Cosmic Entities, possessing Knowledge and Wisdom, to freely penetrate the mental bodies of this darkened earthly part of the Collective Consciousness help them evolve more efficiently.

What we used to attribute to “miracles”, “fateful encounters” or “miraculous salvation” is in fact the embodied result of our own creativity and work of the Soul in its long reincarnation series. Miracles, as such, in their primitive human interpretation, do not exist! There is only the possibility and degree of accessibility of the embodied human Consciousness to certain levels of Knowledge. For each person, depending on the level of his evolutionary development, his own measure of access to the Single Spiritual Treasury is laid.

It is a pity that the majority of people, despite the obvious immediacy and short-term nature of earthly Life, nevertheless continue to vegetate in material emptiness and ignorance, completely immersed in the little things of life and the lies of prejudices, every second losing opportunities for heart creativity, which is most fully manifested in love and noble communication with people. They forget that only Consciousnesses that bring people the Joy of triumphant Love, bless their every day with the radiance of their Heart, have undergone immense suffering and, thanks to them, have reliably enriched themselves with invaluable experience, are worthy to enter the spiritual Sphere of new Forces and Knowledge, about which we tell in our books.

Relying entirely in your Life only on someone's omnipotent help and omnipotent connections, constantly looking for solutions to the pressing issues of your own Life in the advice of the mighty of this World, you will not be able to jump out of the narrow rut of prejudices you have developed that make you constantly balance between your own gravitation to the spiritual Spheres and an irrepressible desire for earthly well-being. How much of our spiritual strength and Energy is spent daily on fear and doubts, on resentments and tears, instead of radiating pure rays of Light, Love and Harmony towards each next moment and each new day.

Spiritual Greatness arises in complete tranquility and self-control manifested by a person in any life situations. If you constantly bless all the circumstances that the nascent day brings to us, without being attached to either negativity or a decadent mood, then you can achieve a lot in Life. If you still have not learned to «OVERCOME LOVE» and «OVERCOME WITH THE LIGHT» any obstacles encountered on your life path, if you do not evaluate each of the obstacles as just another step of your own path of ascent to the Spirit and continue to blame all kinds of imaginary ones for your failures the intrigues of the «forces of darkness» and the envy of evil people, then consider that your Life has been lived by you in vain until now.

Constantly improving yourself, thereby you solve not only the task of your incarnation, successfully untie your karmic knots with the help of Love and Light, but also help many people improve their own Life, although most often you do not see or even realize how important it is that you yourselves were able to give the past day. In order for each of you to be able to harmoniously vibrate as an active part of Creation, it is necessary that you not only in very rare moments feel yourself as a harmonious part of the whole Creation, but also that in your Consciousness the Knowledge and experience that all YOUR co-creation is deeply and naturally with God can be realized only when you are constantly aware of yourself in natural UNITY with Him.

That is why all those who are not mired in the swamp of the coarsest energies and have found the strength to timely, thoroughly and comprehensively work out all their instinctive, animal passions, after a specific state of the preparatory period of their Consciousness stay in the “akasha sleep”, they are necessarily actively manifested in various qualitative energy-informational levels of the realities of Paradise.

Later, the newly manifested personal Consciousnesses of these Soul-aspects will still have to “pay” on all accounts-debts of the accumulated “negative” Karma, but for now, each of the deceased should be rewarded in strict accordance with the Law of Retribution: to receive harmonious consequences of all without exception positive reasons, ever generated by him during his Life on Earth. Not a single altruistic Thought, not a single good, unselfish desire or compassionate deed can be “forgotten”, since all inner experiences of a person are duplicated with absolute accuracy and fixed on the Permanent Atoms of His Soul.

In the harmonious realities of this particular energy-information spectrum, the deceased collects the fruits of all his worthy earthly experiences. No pain, no grief, not even the slightest shadow of sorrow can darken the bright horizon of that pure Love and cloudless Joy, that spiritual Harmony in which the Consciousnesses that are located here dwell .

Of course, this disembodied period of the individual development of Consciousness is - we repeat again and again - not some serene and empty «pastime» familiar to our earthly way of thinking, but a creatively active STATE OF CONSCIOUSNESS (!), A state of, so to speak, «intense positive EGOism ”, during which a person’s Consciousness reaps a reward for all his positive qualities manifested by him in his lifetime on Earth: Love, Kindness, Compassion, Selflessness and lofty spiritual aspiration. This is a state when the Consciousness of the deceased is completely and completely absorbed by the vibrations of total creative bliss, fixed in it by the sum of all his personal earthly positive attachments, addictions and Thoughts.

Let me remind you that all the earthly connections of people, their mutual endless love or merciless hatred - all this is the fruit of more than one given Life. And your body, your appearance, and all your environment, your likes and dislikes, are only the consequences and results of the personal activity of your Soul, manifested by it in many past centuries and millennia.

Men and women, closely connected in their current incarnations, were together in their past Lives. The connection between them will continue in various interpretations throughout their spiritual Evolution. It is these past connections that explain their current position and the specifics of their relationship.

Feelings such as love and hate cannot die immediately or even within two or three incarnations, because they are not limited by the framework of physical Time and Space. But incompatibility, enmity and mutual hatred between a man and a woman are just a temporary waste, so to speak, an edifying experience that the Soul needs to achieve harmony and overcome fear, which is directly opposite to love.

Only by learning the art of conscious unity with all people in Beauty and Harmony, disinterested merging with EVERYTHING in Love and Light, can one penetrate into those highest spiritual Planes where more perfect Beings dwell. Only then the Space of one’s own Heart opens and a new, Divine Love grows in it. Only then will you begin to understand that the entire Universe is interconnected, that all Consciousness breathes, lives and eternally moves in God only with this life-giving Love.

There is not and cannot be a path of spiritual perfection, compiled personally only for one human Essence, singled out from hundreds of millions of Lives around it. The higher and further we go in our spiritual Evolution, the clearer we see and understand the Truth that there is no limit in perfection. It does not matter what level of development and what spiritual height you reach today, it is important that you always and in everything move only forward, harmoniously moving in the mainstream of that eternal movement, which we call «Life». It is impossible to achieve this without Love.

If today you have not been able to decorate the day for anyone with your disinterested kindness, then consider that your day was wasted in vain, because you could not enter that eternal stream of Love, in which the entire Universe, God, was today. By not doing good, you thereby voluntarily isolate yourself from people and deprive yourself of the unique opportunity to rise one step higher along the path of self-improvement. There is only one path to God, and this path goes not through some mysterious “camel’s ear”, but through Love for man.

It follows from the above that, naturally, there can be no question of any conscious bliss or active creativity in Paradise for intellectually underdeveloped and low-spiritual people with an underdeveloped mental body, since they DO NOT STILL have the degree of mentality necessary for at least partial awareness of the evolutionary necessity of this mental state.

Such “young” Consciousnesses for a short time get here only on the eve of their new incarnation, and then, for the most part, are in these vibrations in an unconscious state, in order to thus acquire at least the basic constituent elements of their future conductors-shells, evolutionarily necessary for them to consciously-creative manifestations in certain types of reality.

“Young” Souls after physical Death relatively “quickly” reincarnate in various levels of the Subtle World, staying for relatively short emotional periods in different types of realities of the Astral Sphere of the Earth, which, at their grossly limited level of understanding, may well be perceived by them for what many people understand under the word «paradise». In such cases, the Soul-aspect, on its own Plan, as a result of its first, «trial» incarnations on the Physical Plane of the Earth, can assimilate little from its short life experience. Therefore, after the complete liberation of Consciousness from the physical, etheric and gross astral conductors, its Main Life Principle (the so-called “Existing Souls” together with three Permanent Atoms) is quickly removed from the primitive mental form and the Soul-analogue immediately sends to its Soul-aspect an energy-informational impulse calling for a new incarnation in identical types of reality to continue the process of developing an astral-mental experience of Existence.

If the earthly Life of a person was sufficiently full and rich, but still could not reach the stage when the aggregate

«I» of her incarnating Consciousness learned to consciously cooperate with her Higher «I», then there are periods of personal «nirvana», the duration of which depends on the interest of Consciousness to continue its development in this form of Life, as well as from the natural ability of a person to consciously comprehend his individual experience.

The so-called. Of “mature” and “old” Souls, when the Higher “I” largely dominates the lower instincts and completely controls the mental Life of the physical personality, interests move to higher levels and then the main goal of a person after his physical Death becomes the achievement of a state that is traditionally is understood by the word «nirvana». This usually happens with those who are either on the probationary Path, or already on the Path of 2-3 Initiations.

Since the conscious perception of one’s COMPREHENSIVE personality on Earth is only a fleeting dream, or rather, an illusion imposed on the Consciousness, then the identical feeling of personal self-awareness in Paradise will be like a dream. Only THERE will this sensation intensify so much that the Soul, in its feeling of total happiness, peace of mind and creative joy, will no longer be able to adequately respond to any external negative impulses (misfortune, suffering, sorrow, etc.), which, perhaps, exposed to those whom the deceased loved very much on Earth. And she could not have done it simply due to the TOTAL absence of vibrations of negative quality in the energies of the realities of the Inner Sphere we are considering.

In his own, INDIVIDUAL Paradise, the deceased, through corresponding alternate identifications with the Consciousnesses of each of his astral Prototypes, AS WELL continue to actively live with all those whom he loved very much; it doesn’t matter whether they returned to the Subtle World before him, or their materialized Thought-forms still remain on Earth. He not only sees and fully feels their completely real, living and self-conscious images (Prototypes) next to him - happy, joyful, innocent and completely devoid of any negativity - but also actively communicates, interacts with them at high emotional levels. - mental levels, individually inherent for each of the realities of the Sphere, conventionally designated by us as “Paradise”.

There is a huge qualitative variety of mental states of the Aspect Soul, which creatively and actively resides in these high-frequency realities. There are as many varieties of inner Harmony as there are not even shades of perception and the ability to appreciate such spiritual reward on Earth. The whole point is that all this is an ACTUALLY IMAGINATED Paradise, in each specific case generated by the very Consciousness of the deceased and the entire environment of which, mentally and sensually, is also created by him - Paradise, full of all kinds of pleasant events and magnificent objects, populated and filled wonderful people whom the Soul of the deceased would most like to meet in such an atmosphere of complete Happiness and Bliss.

As many people exist, there are as many embodied types of posthumous states of this kind. It is this inexhaustible variety that draws the Soul of the deceased into a rapid flow, which will lead it to a new birth in a lower or higher state of Consciousness in any of the following numerous realities of the Worlds of Causes and Effects.

The concept of «spirituality», just like any other concept in our imperfect world, is very relative in its broad understanding and has a huge number of degrees, strongly contrasting with our gross «material state». It is the presence of numerous differences in the understanding of spirituality that form and determine that great «variety» of states of ALREADY disembodied Consciousness, consciously staying after the so-called. “Death” at various high-vibration levels of the Subtle World. A carpenter, businessman, politician or housewife here, each in his own individual Paradise, is no less happy than the former king or president of the country, if only during their Life they were able to achieve an appropriate spiritual level of understanding and development that allows them to actively stay in energy-information conditions of these realities.

The pleasures experienced by a horse breeder who spends all his time next to his pets, many of whom may have died long ago, will be no less strong than the ecstasy experienced by a happy mother from meeting her LIVE young children, many years before her Death burnt out during a fire. After all, if they say that “manuscripts (as materialized energy-information carriers!) Do not burn”, then what can we say about the indestructibility of such perfect energy-information systems as people are. And although the Consciousness of children who died “prematurely”, i.e. ... before reaching the age of seven, they stay in the higher Layers of the First Heaven, waiting for the moment of a more prosperous incarnation, nevertheless, the mother’s loving imagination finds her children there, never feeling a lack of what she was striving for throughout her Life, yearning and suffering from grief, Heart. We have already repeated more than once that each of the subtle realities exists within the strict limits of the vibrations of its own range, therefore, in highly organized types of Being, it is simply energetically impossible for the manifestation of vibrations characteristic of the realities of a lower level.

Life activity and thought-creativity in Paradise

The activity of the inhabitants of the Mental is immensely more diverse and multidirectional than in any of the previously considered astral realities, and depends largely on the stage of evolutionary development and to what degree of self-awareness the deceased is. All his opportunities for participation in the creative activity of the spiritual community, into which he organically merged according to the principle of vibrational correspondence, entirely depend on these spiritual and intellectual quality indicators .

Usually Souls, astrally and mentally fully developed and matured, completely untied their karmic knots with the Physical Plane they abandoned, completely devote themselves to helping those who are in Purgatory, especially in its lowest layers, up to the borders of the Antiworld. Their level of development allows them to widely and productively use all the supersensible abilities inherent in any of the inhabitants of their type of reality, which gives them practically unlimited possibilities in creative manipulations with the primitive energies of the lower levels of the Astral, where each of the deceased people first falls.

That is why, meeting people newly arriving in the Subtle World, they can easily and freely take on the appearance of any of those whom the deceased trusted more than anything else in the world during his Life on Earth. The need for this is due to the extreme emotional imbalance and acute mental impulsivity of states in which almost every person who is not prepared for the posthumous Transition lives immediately after disincarnation.

Another and, perhaps, the most important aspect of the practical activity of the Beings that form the spiritual communities of the numerous realities of the Mental is the creative modeling, development and transformation of all kinds of autonomous mental values, which, gradually and purposefully lowering to the level of vibrations of various overtones of the energy of the Astral Plane, self-actualize and self-transform in the Consciousness of people, evolutionary and vibrationally ready for the conscious perception of these mental values. This is how the enormous spiritual help and support of the spiritual communities of people living in the conditions of various types of Earth reality is realized and practically carried out, which is conducive to their spiritual growth and ascent to all levels of their COMPLEX Consciousness.

For each type and degree of development of Consciousness in the spiritual laboratories of the Mental, many new Thought Ideas, Thought Forms and Thought Images are continuously developed and constantly introduced to all vibrational levels of earthly existence, which, according to the law of attraction of similar to similar, immediately find among the billions of abodes of astral and physical realities of their zealous admirers, adherents and spiritual carriers, developing and transforming these mental programs in detail on the personal levels of their existence.

This work of the Beings of the Mental affects not only the spiritual, moral and moral aspects of the evolutionary development of all earthly civilizations, but also greatly influences the general formation of each of the individual realities, including such gross material ones as our physical one. So, for example, in one of my regular Contacts with the Teachers, I wondered WHY ARE NOT ALWAYS WITH SUFFICIENT ACCURACY IMPLEMENTING PLANNED PHYSICAL PLAN CHANGES PREVENTING THE ACT OF EARTH TRANSFORMATION? (For some reason, hundreds of readers of my books are interested in this very circumstance).

Brother Albellik replied that in connection with the ever more extensive and deep penetration (projection) of subtle realities into the vibration range of the Physical Plane of the Earth on the eve of the Act of its Transformation, in certain regions of the planet, an uneven densification of the substance of Space-Time takes place. That is, roughly speaking, in different parts of the Earth, depending on the degree of superposition of the energies of the fourth dimension on the dimension of the Space of the Physical Plane, there is an uneven increase in the density of Time, which, in turn, inadequately affects the sequence and sequence of certain karmically conditioned events ...

In addition, the powerful high-frequency mental processing of the Collective Consciousness of humanity has led to a sharp increase in the level of self-awareness of a huge number of people living in areas planned for a radical physical change. And, since the growth of self-awareness of earthlings is the main goal of the upcoming Act of Transformation, then by a small additional mental adjustment of the Time Field of the physical Globe of the Earth, a large part of the Collective Consciousness of humanity thus provides another chance to bring the level of their self-awareness to the quality necessary for the successful implementation of NATURAL TRANSMUTATION and preparation for the so-called «Quantum leap».

Many of the inhabitants of the Fiery World (Mental), together with the Ascended Teachers and Intermediaries from the cosmic civilizations supervising humanity, also quite actively participate in the creative elaboration of many subtle-material models of the Second and Third (as the density of Matter decreases) Globes of the Earth, which will be manifested in its Reality after the completion of the Act of Transfiguration. In particular, this important work is carried out by mentally highly developed representatives of earthly humanity in the energy-informational levels of the Area of Concrete Thought.

With the help of the energy of Thought, they also significantly alter the physical landscape and general features of our planet. The rich experience of creative work with the Matter of Thought allows them in different historical epochs to produce on Earth gradual or, on the contrary, very stormy, changes of various types (physical, social, religious, moral, technical, etc.) so that with each return of the Soul -aspect to the manifested earthly Life on it, not only the ecophysical, but also the informational environment would be changed, thanks to which it would be easier for the Soul to acquire new impressions and develop new evolutionary qualities.

The creatures of the Fiery World purposefully modify not only the climate and relief, but also the flora and fauna of the Earth, not to mention the thoroughly replaced historical and political conditions and the system of Spiritual and moral values in human society. Thus, the World around us at every moment of Time is exactly what we all together (both embodied and disembodied representatives of humanity) and each of us individually made it; and it will be exactly the way we continue to create it with our Thoughts, feelings, aspirations and conscious actions (both during Life and after Death).

All inhabitants of mental realities actively help us create our World better and more perfect, but, unfortunately, a lot of the mental Ideas they produce, being encoded by low-frequency vibrations of the Consciousnesses of people fixated on gross materiality, undergo significant changes and cease to fulfill their original high-Spiritual role. But this is no longer theirs, but ours, a purely human problem, vividly reflecting the entire degree of informational ignorance and spiritual imperfection of the entire earthly community, through the Collective Consciousness of which they simultaneously have real freedom to actively express the Consciousness of not only the developed Fifth and Sixth Races, but also embodied Consciousnesses at the level of development of the Fourth, Third and even the Second Human Races.

For the active inhabitants of the Mental (I repeat that besides them, there is always a certain number of mentally passive members of this Spiritual community, who have re-emerged from the higher realities of the Astral and require a certain period of adaptation of the mental body to new, better conditions of existence), the possibility of free movement into any of the directions of the four- and five-dimensional Space not only of the Earth, but also of some other planets of our star system.

Their free mental “flights” cannot even roughly be compared with the soaring of birds in the air, since their movements are immeasurably lighter, freer and faster than anything that exists on Earth and are comparable only to what we mean by the concept of “flight of Thought”. In necessary cases, you can make just instantaneous movements, especially since such concepts as “distance”, “length”, “width”, “height” simply do not exist there, and everything is determined only by the degree and measure of the mental state of a person, and also the level of development of his intellect (the quality of the mental shell).

They also have access to all the underlying layers of Space, starting from the Spheres of Purgatory (the Outer Sphere of the Astral), where they are especially frequent guests, and ending with the most dense in energy sufferers of the Moon, Pluto, as well as one- and two-dimensional Spaces of the “Magma” of the Earth and the Cosmic “Bottom”. They often visit our Physical World, but neither psychics nor clairvoyants can see them, but only people with highly developed Spiritual vision (please do not confuse this unique ability with the phenomenon of so-called «astral vision», which is quite widespread among people, therefore that for a one-time visit to astral realities, in order to avoid the acquisition of astral karmic dependence, the fiery Essences resort to using the astral shell only as an unstable principle, which is why it is almost impossible to feel them at the level of vibrations of even a very developed astrosome).

The sphere of their active creative activity includes all the Worlds of Enlightenment located on other planets of our solar system, the circles of Angels and Archangels, the Worlds of elementals and involutions of other forms and branches of Life, as well as the Worlds of the Highest Aspects of the Solar Logos. We remind you that the Realities of our Solar system allow the Consciousnesses incarnating and evolutionarily developing in them to actively develop only the three coarsest of their seven Principles: the astral, mental and causal body-shells. For the active development of the following Principles, starting from the buddhic, Consciousness needs to leave this star system and begin to develop in cosmic systems for which the Matter of the Buddhic Plan is the coarsest. Such systems exist in a star cluster called “Pleiades” on Earth, from where they come out to the Ray of Contact with me on the shi of the Teacher (our Souls-analogues).

In Paradise, there are no limits to creativity and flight of imagination; here all restrictions can be created only by the person himself, therefore the boundaries of the surrounding Space will expand, transform and deepen along with the growth and improvement of the Consciousness of the deceased himself. That is why the so-called. «Adaptation period». Otherwise, all the shortcomings of the mental development of individual underdeveloped personalities of the aggregate embodied Human Consciousness - egotism, limitation, vanity, pettiness, etc. - would inevitably affect the real environment of the Soul itself, depriving it of all those truly unlimited potential possibilities that are inherent in all types of reality of this Plan. Only steady development and Spiritual improvement during its incarnation on Earth can give the Soul-aspect of the deceased more and more rich and complete opportunities to transform its stay in Paradise into a truly «heavenly pleasure».

Sometimes I am asked: is it possible for a person who has committed grave moral transgressions during his incarnation to get, after disincarnation, to the levels of the reality we are describing? My answer very often leads people fixated on primitive religious dogmas into confusion, because REALLY even the most fallen bastard and sinner, who, nevertheless, had in his Life, even momentary, impulses of altruistic tenderness, an inner striving for goodness and justice (even if they are misunderstood, in their own way), has a very real opportunity before its next incarnation - naturally, only after his Soul has passed all the necessary astrological-cleansing procedures, - for a certain period of his Consciousness staying on one from the steps of Paradise. But only can such an amorphous existence be called truly “heavenly”? Indeed, in many respects, the activity of the Beings there is determined not by the degree of karmic conscious dependence on the qualities worked through during physical incarnation, but by the level of development of their mental body.

If a person’s earthly Life was dull and colorless, completely killed in endless pursuits of momentary pleasures and material accumulation, poor both morally and mentally, not allowing a person to constantly develop high-quality information material for the formation of his mental and causal bodies, then “ the Paradise Life ”of such a Soul after the disembodiment will also be sleepy and semi-conscious, since, apart from what the Soul itself has accumulated, no one can add anything to its baggage. Truly, it is rightly said: «What you sow, you will reap ...»

At the early stages of his Evolution, having finally got rid of his lower shells (physical, etheric and astral) with tremendous suffering and efforts, a deceased person will simply «doze», staying in complete unconsciousness. Quietly throbbing inside an undeveloped mental body, his posthumous Life will slowly transform in the Soul-aspect absolutely everything, even the smallest and at first glance insignificant, but in fact affecting the spiritual or moral aspects, the consequences of its last physical incarnation, without affecting the external levels of Consciousness itself. Therefore, all the processed information will be deposited through the experience of the received experience on the deep levels of the subconscious of the future embodied personality through the means of the Permanent Atoms.

As the posthumous development and perfection of their astral and mental vehicles in the realities of the Subtle World continues, it is this disembodied period of the Life of the Soul that will become more and more important, significant and qualitatively long in terms of the experienced sensations. With the gradual growth, development and expansion of a person's self-consciousness, this amorphous and outwardly inactive state of «akasha sleep» will qualitatively change, due to which the Soul will begin to become more, brighter and more productively aware of the World around it.

The gradual awareness of the reality of his Higher «I» and the illusory nature of the former personal «I» forces human memory to unfold panoramas of many and many of his Lives before the deceased, revealing to Consciousness the true reasons that caused indispensable karmic consequences in subsequent incarnations of not only physical, but also other types of reality ...

The active exponent and conductors of many properties of the Matter of the Mental is the substance (energy), which is commonly called the “gravitational field of the Earth”. Within the limits of the “field of attraction” of our planet, the Fiery Beings of this Plan move instantly. In the Mental World that mechanical Life is completely absent, which makes the inhabitants of the Earth real slaves of things created by them, the moral foundations of the society in which they live and the circumstances in which people themselves involve themselves. In the Fiery World, the Soul at the lowest levels can only be delayed by the quality of the Thoughts it produces, to one degree or another tied to habitual earthly values, but if it frees itself from them, then it thereby frees itself from everything that can actively inhibit its further spiritual growth.

Each step of Paradise corresponds to a completely definite level of human Consciousness and at first appears before the newcomer as a fabulous “country of great rest”. That is why, without exception, all the inhabitants of the Fiery World glow internally with eternal, unearthly Youth, Joy and Love. Even those from the so-called. “Mature” and “old” Souls who have reached the level of Angels in their Evolution, in their appearance do not look like abstruse old men, and also young, light and unusually beautiful in the radiant halo of vibrations of Love constantly emitted by them.

As for the external shape and facial features, you already know that each of the emotions, like each of the qualities and character traits developed by a person, are imprinted on his face in a very specific way: in a thin and ornate pattern of forehead wrinkles, in subtle folds lips, eyes and nose, in the characteristic features of gaze and movements. Depending on which of the chakram personalities of a person is most developed and intensively worked out at the moment, the details of the appearance itself also change, because each of the subtle personalities that make up our total Consciousness has its own strictly defined range of external manifestation and reflection.

But when all this multilayered external illusion is removed as the most ordinary mask (which actually happens when the astral shell is shed, when the Consciousness of the Soul-aspect is finally and completely dis-identified with all the chakram consciousnesses that previously represented in it the lowest aspects of certain Cosmic Qualities), then it opens the true face of the human Essence, which in many respects speaks about the level of spiritual development achieved by this Consciousness. Usually, all the inhabitants of Paradise have features that are radiant, refined and dazzling even for a person who has developed the ability to «astral vision». Produced by bright Thoughts and highly developed creative imagination of the transformed Consciousness, the clothes of the inhabitants of the Mental are quite simple, beautiful, practical, extremely light and have some kind of independent glow, so characteristic of the substance from which all the realities of the Fiery World are created.

Transformations of the earthly appearance of dead people are often simply amazing here, since quite a lot of highly developed Consciousnesses are specially incarnated on the Physical Plane into extremely ugly and disgusting human forms in order to develop certain spiritual qualities in themselves. Therefore, when you see an unattractive appearance, do not rush to turn away from such a person with disgust and disgust - it is quite possible that a high Soul is deliberately hidden behind a rough and terrible shell.

In addition, very many Consciousnesses punish themselves with an ugly appearance for their karmic debts: someone in an unkind hour remembered someone with an unkind word, someone had the stupidity to laugh at someone's ugly appearance, someone was disgusted with someone else and scornfully shied away ... The Ways and Laws of Karma are inscrutable.

The great and pure Love, which arose between a man and a woman on Earth, which grew spiritually and after Death significantly deepened, can continue here, but already in a much more purified form of egoistic husk, freed from everything that burdened and constrained her during her earthly Life due to the coarseness of physical bodies. Sexual pleasure has completely changed its meaning and purpose here, and is no longer associated with sensory impulses that are characteristic even of the higher layers of the Astral, but with high mental images and Spiritual Archetypes that are formed in the purified Consciousness.

ENERGY STRUCTURE OF THE MENTAL BODY

Now we must draw your attention to that subtle body, the Matter of which, for the sake of certain practical purposes, attracts Consciousness to itself before it begins to incarnate for Life in the conditions of physical reality. The fourth, intellectual Beginning, which is guided by the so-called. The «mental body» also belongs to those lower compound Principles of the Heavenly Man, which are not destroyed, but transmuted after each of the incarnations. They are necessary for Consciousness as a means for the fullest possible self-expression of a person in realities of this type.

The structure of the mental body is unusually subtle and its energy-informational structure is much more complex than that of the astral vehicle. Emanation of the Matter of the Higher Mental Sphere, of which it consists, is elusive even for astral vision. The space surrounding the Existing is formed from the most subtle substances that are part of the four lower divisions of the Mental World.

This is the first of the gross, transient forms in which the Cosmic Consciousness voluntarily encloses itself for self-cognitive Life in the conditions of the numerous realities of the Earth. It is well aware that while its Energies operate within these conductors, it will, in the main, be cut off from its own Higher World, since all its attention will be drawn only to the Forces emanating from within, due to which all of its individual cosmic Existence will be involved in the knowledge of the lower Planes of Being.

The substance of this conductor is in constant motion, in continuous sound and in incredible overflows of all kinds of light shades, superimposed on each other, sparkling and shimmering with all the colors of the rainbow, like in a kaleidoscope. Looking at the mental body from the Higher Plane, one can see the constant play of colors and colors playing in it.

Sometimes these vortex-like movements start from somewhere inside, and sometimes they cut through the shell boundary from the outside. This means that in the first case, a mental change arises and occurs in Consciousness itself, and in the second, some external vibrations affect a person's thinking. Therefore, the mental body is constantly changing in its shades and vibrations, being in an eternal energy-information cycle.

Communicating with the Beings of the Fiery World, I noticed that changes in color in their mental bodies occur only for purely internal, individual reasons, since external mental stimuli and impulses cannot evoke a response in their bodies controlled by the buddhic Consciousness. Their mental body is never their «I», but serves only as an outer shell, a means or device that they can use at their discretion when they want to come into contact with the lower Mental, just as we use the physical shell in our Life ...

In highly developed people, the mental shell resembles a reflection of moonlight in a quiet water surface. This iridescent silver contains the possibilities of all colors, and when an internal impulse arises in such a body, it is like the appearance in it of a smoothly approaching, and then a rapidly running mental wave with shades of soft pink and mother-of-pearl sparkling on its playing emerald-violet crests.

Just as, having thrown off the physical body, a person «takes» with him into the Astral all character traits, skills and abilities, in the same way, having thrown off the astral body, each of his highly spiritual chakram personalities retains all his achievements of both earthly and astral periods. his life, accumulating them in a purified form as inclinations or hidden embryos, the development of which will determine the structure and composition of his future astral body, its character and abilities in subsequent realities.

The mental body develops, in principle, in the same way as the astral one, that is, by refining all human representations, purifying Thoughts, increasing their quality and power of imagination due to the continuous expansion of Consciousness and the introduction of ever wider areas of the Universe into its active sphere.

The Mental body, like the Mental World in the Universe, is the center of the axis of rotation of the cosmic body. A modern developed person is accustomed to using the mental body as the main support in his actions and deeds, forgetting about the need to increase the level of Consciousness of his astral body by opening (activating) the heart center. With such an energetic position, the weakness of its general structure immediately catches the eye, which is extremely undesirable - different levels of Consciousness can begin to simultaneously be involved in many parallel Lives.

The intensity of mental development varies depending on age categories. Especially quickly and effectively, the human intellect develops from twelve to seventeen years, then the development of the mental body slows down, and at a later age it becomes difficult. In this regard, special attention should be paid to your Spiritual and intellectual development precisely in adolescence, when vast blocks of memory are not loaded with any unnecessary information.

Naturally, a person's Thought Body is not only a generator of his thinking process, but also a receiver of Thoughts that fill the mental area of the surrounding Space. Moreover, at what qualitative level a person thinks, from the same level he is able to receive information, because the mental body is self-attuned to receive vibrations of exactly the same quality, which it can generate itself. That is why a kind and compassionate person to other people's troubles, guided in his actions only by the altruistic feelings of Love, Goodness and Harmony, automatically deprives his mental system of the ability to actively accept and assimilate (accumulate in himself) hateful and negative Thought forms coming from outside, and therefore their destructive energies cannot manifest themselves in his Destiny in any way.

The mental bodies of modern representatives of humanity of the third, fourth and even fifth Races are only in their negligibly small degree illuminated by the Light of the Higher Consciousness. The lower part of the range of vibrations of the mental body (Mind) forms various levels of the subconscious, and the highest, most qualitative part of the supramental vehicle serves as a means for self-expression of the Superconscious or the Higher Self. Thanks to these vibrations, the voice of the Cosmic Reason sounds in the Consciousness of a person, which is called the «Voice of Silence» in Eastern esotericism.

The subconscious has its own «floors», including purely biological ones, where specialized mental principles function, which control all important functions of the physical organism, such as digestion, metabolism, blood circulation, dreaming, etc. Here the rational principle of the Mind is naturally, as it were, intertwined with the functioning of the external analogue of the etheric and even astral body, which is understandable, because all our bodies-shells and principles-conductors interpenetrate each other. In the real Life of a person, as a multidimensional and multispectral being, there is always an imposition of one spectrum-aspect on another.

Just like an intellectually developed personality embodied on Earth, our Superconsciousness also has its own «floors» or levels of activity, the lowest of which is the so-called. «The state of preconception», and the upper one - the Cosmic Consciousness in all its infinite depth, omnipresence and absolute transparency. In the multilevel functioning of the COMPOSITE Consciousness of the mental body, very many other Forces and Beginnings are also more or less actively manifested, which do not belong by their Cosmic Nature to this type of Mental Worlds.

In the range of higher vibrations of the mental body (the body of the Mind) function:

- Higher «I» of a person or the Consciousness of his Soul-analogue together with his inherent Archetype (First Ideas and Archetypes of the Individual Cosmic Spirit);
- personal COMPLEX Consciousness of this «I» or the Consciousness of the so-called. «Aspect Souls», consisting of twelve Consciousnesses of their subtle-material Prototypes (personal Consciousnesses of each of the human mental centers), existing simultaneously and in parallel in different realities;
- total Will of the Consciousness of the Soul-aspect, consisting of the volitional qualities of all Consciousnesses of its Prototypes;
- shells of the astral and etheric bodies, vibrating at levels that separate the non-manifest from the manifest;
- Primordial Life and First Matter on the energy border between the Subtle and the Physical Worlds;
- penetrating vibrations of the causal, buddhic and Spiritual bodies.

In the lower part of the mental body (the body of the Mind) function:

- COMPLEX Consciousness of the Soul-aspect, around which a specific human personality is gathered (modeled);

- individual Will of the earthly personality;

- vital fire (Kundalini), which manifests itself in each specific case strictly individually, as the power of Imagination;

- COMPLEX subconsciousness, which is the basic structure of the energy-informational matrix of the lower mental body and carries not only the beginnings of private Minds (subconsciously thinking projections of the twelve volitional aspects of Prototypes), but also individual memory, which contains the information accumulated by the personality during its manifestation existence;

- Thought-forms migrating along the corresponding vibrational levels and spontaneous thought-images, subconsciously transmitted from the outside from one mental body to another.

The lower part of the mental body, when a person reaches a certain level of intellectual and spiritual development, can be consciously used without the help of the brain and nervous system of the physical organism. In the normal state, the lower part of the mental body functions only in conjunction with the brain and the sensory system .

The mental body has in its structure thirteen energy vortices (subacrams) of various powers and qualities, each of which plays its own role in the process of thinking and contributes to the strengthening and development of the mental shell. The greatest influence on the general state of the intellectual body is exerted by the subhakram of Nirvana, which in fact is the main generator of the energies of synthesis.

The degree of functioning of this sub-center is evidenced by such personality characteristics as the ability of a person to unite and the desire to synthesize in himself the most distant areas of Knowledge, the ability to see unity in the manifestations of any pairs of opposites, stable logical skills that push to study a variety of philosophical trends and esoteric knowledge.

The second in importance for the person embodied in physical reality is the earthly subchacram. Its development and stability determine the speed and quality of laying in the Consciousness the foundations of elementary knowledge associated with human life under the conditions of the laws of dense material reality. It also processes all incoming information regarding issues of economics, politics, applied science, various types of arts, medicine, psychology, religion, etc.

Almost the same in its importance influence on the development of the mental body is exerted by its mental subacrum, the activity and intensity of development of which depends on the ability to quickly process and manipulate information coming to the brain, skills in the accuracy of the reaction and the speed of a person making an optimal logical decision in certain situations. ...

One of the most important is the supramental subchakram, closely associated with the Vishuddha throat chakram. It is he who is functionally responsible for the purity of sound, clarity and correct formulation of speech, the ability to control his voice and all kinds of sound vibrations in order to consciously influence and make appropriate changes in the energy structures of the numerous realities of the earth's Space-Time.

In addition, for example, the energy pocharam is responsible for the timely receipt of information in the physical body about the state of health in general, as well as the central and autonomic nervous systems of a person. An underdeveloped state of the astral subacrama dulls wit or even deprives a person of a sense of humor, reducing his intelligence and weakening the sharpness of his Mind.

The karmic podhakram stimulates the adequacy of the person's perception of the action of the Law of Karma and other important Cosmic Laws that contribute to the spiritual development of a person, increase his ability to self-control, the ability to apply internal stabilization and the manifestation of volitional qualities for the purpose of spiritual self-realization. Intuitive subcharam determines the creative inclinations of a person towards certain types of art, his ability to harmonious development.

The other five subacrams of the mental vehicle play a lesser role and have a weaker effect on the general state of all structures of the mental body, but their development can in no way be ignored, since the underdevelopment of these vortexes of energy can lead to disruption of some important functions of the brain. (You will find more detailed information about these and other psychic centers of a person in our book "Soul Chakras").

As you already know, the characteristic individual properties and the general level of development of the mental body of any person depend, first of all, on the quality of all previous accumulations of its Soul-aspect and self-organize, mainly, during periodic sojourn of Consciousness in the realities of the Mental Plane. The materials from which it is formed, as well as the complexity of the configuration of the structure of all its constituent structures, entirely depend on the intensity of the qualities that Consciousness has accumulated and developed as a result of all its past experiences of existence in various types of reality.

Unlike the astral body, the mental shell of a person does not correspond to its usual forms, but has a regular oval shape and increases in its volume only as the person's Consciousness develops and expands. Therefore, in some people the mental shell from the Thin Plan is barely visible, speaking of their evolutionary «infancy» or «youth», while there are real giants of Thought, whose mental body extends far beyond their astrosome and immediately testifies to The "mature age" of the Soul-aspect.

I have already repeated many times (and in one of the Messages through the Contact Ray my spiritual Teachers confirmed the truth of my words!) That NOT ONE THOUGHT CAN BE BELONG TO THE PERSON, SHOWING IT. Because the true Source of all so-called. “Our” Thoughts is not at all in our brain, but outside of us, in the entire information system of the surrounding Cosmos.

From different levels of the Mental into our brain, through the energy-informational structures of our mental vehicle, various combinations and combinations of the emanations of the Matter of Thought are projected. Refracting in the Consciousness of a person who is able to actively reach a given level of thinking, through the concepts, symbols and archetypes accepted in human society, each of the many Ideas is once formed in someone’s brain into certain phrases and terms.

In such a mentally processed and acceptable form for logical perception, each Thought-Form and Thought-Idea are precipitated by separate blocks or telepathic units at the corresponding levels of the Mental Plan, where there are also special energy-information flows, which we call “Akashic Chronicles”. Any person is quite capable of reaching the level of mental streams available for his development and “select” from them in finished form practically everything that is at the moment the object of his detailed and in-depth thinking.

That is why it is stupid to talk about someone’s «copyright» for this or that Thought, allegedly formulated by him. Not a single Thought is invented by us at all, as many people mistakenly believe, but is only fished out of Space in accordance with the quality of our mental shell and only then, after processing and decoding, it moves to the levels of the astrosome, from where it is transmitted through the transforming systems of the astral body in the form of “our” Thought systems of perception of our physical centers.

Depending on what level of Evolution the Soul-aspect of each embodied personality has reached during its entire existence, people, according to the degree and quality of development of their mental bodies, can be conditionally subdivided into three types: mentally undeveloped, moderately developed and spiritually awakened.

Characteristics of people with underdeveloped mental body

Among the Consciousnesses passing through the humanoid stage of their evolutionary development on Earth, there are especially exalted Souls that are overshadowed by Love and active cares of the Helpers and Teachers invisible to people, who in advance and carefully prepare the place and form for their next incarnation, taking into account the best conditions and opportunities for them. all-round development. People live next to them, learn from them and develop in their own way, although they do not differ in special Mind, but whose Souls approach the loving angelic state.

But there is also a huge multitude of Consciousnesses, which only quite “recently” began their path of embodied human development and at the moment of their earthly development are exclusively engaged only in studying the basics of the Great Universal Life (among them, a group of Consciousnesses stands out, which only by their external form could be called “people”, but which would be more justly attributed to a separate category of so-called “intelligent animals” or “non-humans”).

It's about these nonhumans, with barely begins to awaken the Mind which raises from the depths of his animal nature more powerful, and more refined power, it is accepted to say that «there is no beast, terrible person in this group of representatives. Very young and inexperienced (we can not say → the worst «!) parts of earthly humanity, mental bodies are very poorly organized and are practically in their infancy.

Even elementary alien Thoughts, which most people are content with in their Life, do not expand the Consciousness of such a person, since it develops exclusively through internal processing of the Ideas and concepts available to her understanding. (See the book «People and Inhumans»).

The mental body of such a person consists of a very small amount of the most primitive and poorly organized Matter, which forms the lower energy-informational levels of the Area of Concrete Thought, capable of reacting in the form of astral disturbances only to impulses coming from lower bodies. Consciousnesses of this type of people live mainly only by their lower instincts and make a decision for any action only under the pressure of the impulse of the egoistic and animal passions that overwhelm him, the vibrations of which are not able to cause even the coarsest Matter of the Mental Plane to move.

The impressions that are imprinted in the memory structures of the mental body are more stable and stable than those that are reflected in the astral body, and, in addition, all impulses entering our mental are capable of consciously self-reproducing by it. Here is a multi-level system of mental memory and the reproduction of Thought-forms (Imagination), in which a database of images and ideas is gradually created from embodiment to embodiment, reflecting a person's worldview and capable of influencing the quality of decisions made by him.

Thus, the mental body stimulates the astrosome systems corresponding to a given impulse and causes vibrations of similar desires in it, which are dormant in the animal-man until they are activated by some physical stimulus. That is why a mentally undeveloped person has such a strong thirst for sensual pleasures - the main exciter of his vibrations is the astral body, which is set in motion only from the relationship with objects of physical Matter through the senses.

Only the most powerful passions, such as anger, furious hatred and anger, wild fear, pain and horror of mortal danger, producing powerful destructive energy vortices in the astral body, can slightly excite weak vibrations in the mental body, which, forcing the mental Consciousness to activity, will cause add something from oneself to the impressions influencing a person from the outside.

These signals, periodically perceived by a half-asleep mental Consciousness, are not only more constant than astral impulses, but also allow in the future to independently reproduce and mentally compare similar situations that arise in Life. Thus, memory develops and the ability to imagine increases, which are the basis for the creativity of Consciousness and the accumulation of the experience of existence in this type of reality.

But even in response to the most violent astral reactions, the lower Reason of an underdeveloped person responds barely noticeably in order to immediately fade away, since in a person, driven by lower passions, there is still no necessary “adaptation” to listen to the voice of his Reason, therefore he will prefer to continue follow the lead of your own instinct, allowing the energies of your mental vehicle to continue to be in a state of untouched rest.

There can be no creative and purposeful activity inside an undeveloped mental body, therefore, for the further development of people of this type, all kinds of blows, stresses and unexpected turns of Fate are extremely necessary, capable of making them, at least in this way, try to look for specific answers and ways out of deadly and critical situations. ...

That is why low-quality sensual excesses are always followed by suffering, gradually forcing the underdeveloped person to try more and more often to resist the coarse desires of the astral body and train the Will in restraining his violent animal passions. Without this difficult stage in the development of mental Spirit-Matter, leading a person according to the Laws of Karma to many sufferings and trials, he would not have that life experience that, by causing the mental vibrations of Consciousness to move, would provide food and material for the development of his memory and imagination ...

At a certain stage of their development, people of this type simply awaken an insatiable thirst for sensual pleasures and lustful desires, ranging from unbridled attraction to the opposite sex, ending with senseless and cold manifestations of calculated cruelty, completely alien and alien even to the animal world.

Therefore, the more powerful and tangible the manifestations of various unfavorable circumstances will be, the more qualitatively the experience of overcoming them will affect the individual evolution of the person himself, since each of his responses will cause his Thought to move and thus contribute to the gradual development of his mental shell.

With the growth of awareness, vibrations begin to intensify, pushing out gross emanations from the mental body, which, in turn, helps to attract more subtle mental energies to it. Thanks to this complex process, the mental vehicle begins to improve, Consciousness is more and more awakening from hibernation, its structure is qualitatively improved and its attitude to individual creative activity is gradually activated.

Only after reaching a certain, minimum level of quality, the mental body will be able, with the help of stable volitional impulses, to gradually influence all kinds of low-sensory manifestations of the astral body, awakening in it those feelings, emotions and desires that distinguish a person from an animal. The images formed by the mental Consciousness gradually begin to counteract some negative impulses coming from the astral body, restraining a person from rash actions caused by the first impulses of his lower nature.

The whole meaning of the intermediate existence between physical Death and subsequent Birth in a new reality is precisely to give the Soul of the deceased a real opportunity to creatively transform its life experience into individual abilities that gradually develop a person from an «animal» to a certain average level and higher. The more often the same vibrations are repeated, the more the part of the mental body excited by them develops. When an underdeveloped person enters into some unknown field of activity, then the first thing he encounters is obstacles of a moral and mental nature, which at first may seem so insurmountable to him that a person often prefers to temporarily retreat or completely abandon the intended goal ... This is due to the fact that the already acquired skill of the previous mental activity, having stumbled upon a new and unknown situation to him, in which he has no experience of behavior and does not know how to react correctly, begins to actively inhibit the response thought reactions to this, not yet worked out in a type of vibration.

Therefore, the first steps of an underdeveloped person in a new professional or life field usually boil down to removing mental clues to the old materials of existing experience as soon as possible and «working out» in his mental body qualitatively new vibrations that would be more consistent with the new direction in his work. Consciousness would help a person more adequately respond to external impulses coming to him. It is at this initial stage that a person does not notice any progress in his endeavors and only realizes the futility of all his efforts.

At this moment, very many, feeling stubborn resistance within themselves, refuse to continue the work they have begun and retreat into the sphere of their usual activities. But if you continue your efforts, then a person will soon notice great progress in a new field for him, since the new elements of experience introduced into the mental body will immediately begin to act and, gradually replacing old stereotypes, will begin to give out correct responses to signals of new activity.

In the same way, a person of an average level of mental development can work on himself, gradually becoming convinced that he can successfully resist the impulses coming to his Consciousness from his lower Nature. It is always difficult only at the beginning, but if a person knows the Law and persistently continues his efforts, then he will certainly achieve success, safely resisting the onslaught of his lower self, which will gradually lose its power over his Consciousness.

As the mental body is purified from the elements of Matter that are capable of actively responding to the vibrations of animal Nature, the mental sphere of a person will begin to acquire an ever more radiant and sparkling form with light shades, the substance of which will no longer be able to enter into resonance with low-quality vibrations.

Characteristics of people with a moderately developed mental body

As it frees itself from the sensory principle, the mental vehicle increasingly begins to dominate the mortal nature of man, turning into his leader and a means for self-realization of his free Will. But in order to reach this level, Reason must subjugate all manifestations of indomitable passion that hold a person's Will captive, because until the lower astral principle is successfully transmuted into a higher one, earthly desires and low-quality emotions will subjugate the Will of a person.

The mental body of an average developed person consists of more subtle compounds that are part of four subdivisions of his lower Mental Plan with a greater predominance of Matter of the third and fourth subdivisions, more perfect in their composition than the second and first levels.

Thanks to this, such a body becomes more responsive to higher intellectual manifestations, to subtle vibrations coming from Beauty and Harmony, embodied in art and capable of causing only pure vibrations of higher emotions in a person.

The soul-aspect, clothed in such a mental body, already has a much greater opportunity to more fully manifest itself in the dense World. Due to the fact that the body of such a Soul consists of Matter particles inherent not only in the mental, but in the higher Astral and Physical Planes, the range of vibrations available to it greatly expands and the impulses reaching it from the higher Spheres of the three Worlds form a more subtle organization of its shell-bodies.

Logical and consistent thinking, imbued with selflessness and inner Truth, cleans the Mind from the lower sensory principle and leads a person to reunite with his Higher «I». Purifying and developing his Mind, a person makes it more and more powerful and reliable conductor of his good strength for those around him, because nothing is transmitted so easily to others as our Thoughts.

You already know that we are all literally held captive by all sorts of Thought Forms and Thought Forms, which not only surround us with a dense wall, but also overwhelm you and me. If a person's Mind works sluggishly and vaguely, and is not able to generate powerful generations of its own Thought-forms, then other people's Thoughts very easily enter it, moreover, far from the best quality. If the activity of the Mind is active, definite and positive in nature, then it will attract only similar Thoughts from Space, repelling evil and negative ones.

The entire character of your future posthumous Destiny depends on the quality content of our Mind, on the level of vibrations of that mental baggage that you have accumulated during your earthly Life, on the strength and wealth of your Consciousness and the quality of the substance of your mental body. Everything that is personally primitive, selfishly passionate and firmly attached to gross material forms is immediately neutralized together with the former earthly personality in the lower Spheres of the Astral, and only the content of the supra-personal Consciousness is allowed to further stay in the Higher Worlds.

Everything that you, without regard to your egoistic self-love, thought out, understood and perceived, all the spiritual experience of your earthly Life is collected in the mental body and all your posthumous Life in the Mental takes place in the fact that all this material you brought, all your life experience is processed into spiritual Forces and spiritual qualities, in abilities and talents, - in the properties of your immortal cosmic individuality.

Your entire posthumous future depends entirely on the quality of the material you brought with you into the Subtle World. What you very vaguely imagine as a kind of «heavenly bliss» depends entirely on what Thoughts, what feelings and aspirations filled your Soul during your earthly Life.

If they were of a positive quality, then you will have every chance for safe and active creativity in the vibrations of high-quality realities, but if they were insignificant, petty and negative, then you will not have to consciously experience the bliss of the Higher Worlds, because the high vibrations of the spiritual World will not find the answer in the primitive energy structure of your Soul.

Personal Consciousness, embodied in the physical body of a person, is, as it were, half asleep, in the position of a slave of a biological organism, vaguely perceiving impulses emanating from the Higher Self. a creative process called “Life.” With the activation of Consciousness, this inner “light-shadow” play forms the entire complex range of the actual Consciousness of the individual, awakened in the conditions of its general enslavement by the physical body.

This activation is taking place in several directions.

1) Through the senses (external touch, vision, hearing, smell, taste, and internal touch - the well-being of the physical organism) vibrations come into Consciousness, differing in different frequency of oscillations per unit of time. These vibrations seem to grow on some phases of the waves with moments of consciousness, and on others - with moments of unconsciousness.

The imposition of all these vibrations on each other opens in a previously drowsy Consciousness a window to the external world, visible, audible, smelling, tangible and tasting. At the same time, a window to the inner world opens slightly (the well-being of the body, along with vague self-awareness).

However, unlike the external physical world, in the internal world a person has not five senses, but only one - an internal touch. Other organs of internal senses sleep soundly in a Consciously undeveloped person (even with the development of intelligence in its logical-mathematical and philological-linguistic form).

Only spiritual psycho-training is able to open up the subtle senses in a person: inner vision (clairvoyance), hearing, smell, touch, taste, and awaken the inner self-awareness and self-awareness of the Higher Self in a state of freedom, and not enslavement by the physical body.

Then the spiritually awakened Consciousness perceives the grandiose and beautiful living Worlds, any attempt to hint at which to people, mired in the quagmire of vulgar materialism, will seem nothing more than an empty fantasy.

2) Through active activity in the external world, in the conditions of its intertwining with various relations of people, the human Consciousness passes through itself the experience gained in such activity, part of which is the encoding of directly conscious information using spoken and written words.

At the same time, a person perceives in specific forms of manifestation a movement that reveals to him a specific Space and Time, people and various relationships with them.

3) Verbal coding of information acquires a relatively independent meaning, saturated with abstract meaning, obtained as the most general orientation of the subject to that same type of group of concrete perceptions, in relation to which abstraction and verbal coding of the formed abstraction is carried out.

Elementary examples of such abstractions: man, tree, animal, house, river, rain, etc. In abstraction, we do not mean a specific tree or river, but a tree or river in general.

4) Abstract-verbal thinking, which has arisen on the basis of the personal-social practice of perceiving the concreteness of the objective World, breaks away from the foundation that gave rise to it and closes in on itself. Abstract thinking in its pure form arises, operating in an abstract world, resorting to verbal-sign thinking only as an auxiliary means. However, in mathematics and formal logic, the signs themselves are also abstracted.

All information accumulated at the four stages of development of thinking discussed above is stored not in the brain, but in the memory of the mental body. In the latter, the mental cliché of that part of the brain is developed through which the reproduction of verbal-sign designations, both sensually concrete and abstract-semantic information belonging to the Mental World, is carried out. When a person thinks, then through the efforts of Will, he activates those biocurrents of the brain that are associated with the corresponding part of his mental cliché, in which verbal-sign information is stored and activated in the process of thinking. In this way, with the help of the brain, a person is connected to one or another compartment of information located in the Mental World and perceived not with the help of the brain, but with the help of the mental body.

When an intellectual person is in a state of mental passivity, he has to overcome considerable efforts in order to throw his Consciousness into one or another part of the Mental World for a more or less long time. Having reached this area, the volitional conscious principle is already operating with mental abstractions and their verbal-sign designations, combining with this area of the Mental World the corresponding sections of the mental cliché of the brain.

The mental body - this subtlest vessel that allows Consciousness to travel through the Mental World (or, which is the same thing - abstractions and Thought-images of the Mental flow into the mental body) is characterized by the ability to superimpose some parts of the Mental world (abstractions, Thought-images) on others, and sometimes very many ... In this case, a portion of information is snatched by the mental body from the Mental either through one of the intuition channels, or through a causal-logical connection.

Thus, in one part of the mental body, hundreds and thousands of logical abstractions and Thought forms can be combined and superimposed on each other, which, through the Consciousness of the disembodied chakram personalities, continuously enter into a mental reaction with each other, giving the opportunity for the manifestation of these personalities as in conditions physical reality, and in the conditions of their own reality (through concretized imagination, vivid fantasies, memorable dreams, etc.).

The mental body has its own hierarchical depth, the lower levels of which correspond to the disembodied personal Consciousnesses of the seven vibrational energy levels of the Manipura chakra (see the book "Soul Chakras"). In them, as in a mental boiler every moment «digested» and «melted» hundreds of thousands of all kinds of mental abstraction, and mental images, for a while linking to a single system, allowing embodied personality to deepen and accelerate its intellectually-cognitive process, and significantly expand his.

In the current most important period of human Evolution on Earth, each person does not have a task more important and urgent than the expansion of his own aggregate Consciousness to the levels of free and natural perception of himself in the universality of the Single Creation. By universality, we understand, of course, not only our extensive relationships with friends, relatives and friends, who are our long-time companions on earthly Karma, but also our attitude to all Nature around us with its three lower Kingdoms, to the nearest Cosmos and the Universe in the whole.

The difficulty of this task also lies in the fact that we all have much less time left than we think to move from «I» -thinking to «WE» -thinking .

If you do not even fully understand, but at least only feel the immensity of humanity as a system, then you should have a huge need to enter the universal Development Plan with maximum benefit and try as best and fully as possible to fulfill the task of your incarnation, which is very easy to bring them out. The commandments of Christ. Another opportunity for this on the Physical Plane of the Earth may not present itself to you soon. The common Task for all Souls incarnating now is the same: «To love your neighbor».

SPATIAL «GEOGRAPHY» OF THE AREA OF A SPECIFIC THOUGHT

All the Worlds and realities of the Thin Plan (including the Mental) are projections of the Unified Being, different in density and frequency of vibrations of Matter, as if the floors of the Divine Universe, interconnected (and within themselves) by an infinite number of «staircases», «transitions», common “sites” and hyperspace tunnels of various spatial dimensions.

Man, in all his disembodied personal ASSEMBLY, is an individual synthesis of the Twelve Cosmic Qualities of all these Worlds. To the extent of his evolutionary «capacity», he absorbs them into himself and, through his own astral-mental creativity, paints these Pure Qualities with the energy of his unique individuality, thus hierarchizing in himself (and through himself) numerous qualitative levels of various Planes of the Cosmos. As a result of the action of the Law of Similarity, the Consciousnesses of people, very similar in level and quality of development, form in the Thin Plan innumerable spiritual communities inhabiting the Spaces of the astral-mental Spheres of the Cosmos corresponding to them in quality.

Such spiritual communities (cosmic Races) can freely and without interfering with anyone occupy the whole Globe (planet or even a system of planets) of the “inner” Cosmos, differentiating, in turn, within themselves into numerous (or small) peoples, more closely and harmoniously united yet narrower spiritual priorities, Ideas and qualities.

The Second and Third (internal) Globes of our planet are the spiritual cradle of the earthly person (I do not mean the embodied Star-Born Consciousnesses, whose lower shell-bodies are appropriately synthesized in another star system). From the Second Globe, human Consciousnesses “descend” into denser layers of Matter for the passage of next incarnations and return to it after disincarnation (Death), but, as you already know, not immediately, not instantly, but passing the corresponding adaptation path in the Subtle Worlds in the direction opposite to the development of man in the Physical World.

In principle, and we have already stressed this more than once, any human Consciousness always evolves, because the path of spiritual ascent is inherent in our very divine Nature. Therefore, if it seems to someone that at first glance a person falls down, then this may be an erroneous impression, because in fact it may well turn out that he, having reached heights in cognizing and working out some of the qualities of his individuality, for that or for some other reason, left without proper sensory-mental elaboration of other facets of his COMPLEX Essence, and therefore in this incarnation, as an aspect of the Soul, it descends to one of the very initial stages of earthly Cognition in order to start anew the processing of the evolutionary Cosmic Qualities left in the past without due attention.

If you look closely at people, you can easily notice that many of them choose a job for which they have an interest, but no ability. And although in another area of practical activity they, perhaps, could achieve more significant successes than in the chosen one, they are not interested in that area in this incarnation. Such people simply intuitively feel the need to develop in themselves precisely the qualities that, for one reason or another, were not worked out by them in past Lives. And although the most difficult initial stage of this spiritual work falls on physical incarnation, the results of this long process are reflected in the level of activity of the disembodied Consciousness during its stay in the Mental.

The Mental World is a special ideal cut of the Cosmos. As such, it is immensely and unimaginably huge, completely inaccessible to the understanding of people who have never consciously encountered its unique properties and inimitable qualities. In addition, THAT, which in general is usually understood by people under the term «Mental», is actually not something whole and homogeneous, but even more than the Astral, vibrational is divided into an immense multitude of its sublevels, which are formed in a clear in accordance with the development of the Consciousnesses actively operating in it and the qualitative development of their mental bodies.

All the energy structures of the Mental World (as well as the qualitative stages of the development of mental bodies) exist both in relation to the conscious creative activity of the so-called. Of the Cosmic Mind (Cosmic Entities that create above the range of vibrations separating the so-called «active Emptiness» from the border of the active manifestation of the Worlds woven from physical Matter), and in relation to one degree or another of the expression of the Mind (below the mentioned border, that is, in realities identical to ours in terms of the density of Matter).

If a person during many incarnations reaches a stable level of self-awareness (finds a point of spiritual support in himself), then he thereby actualizes higher levels of vibrations in his mental body and makes his Mind more conscious. In this state, a person becomes capable of free and conscious travel through the levels of the Mental World accessible to him / her and can, at will, “read” all information necessary for his development from the cells of the memory bank (Akashic Chronicles) available to him / her. It does not look like reading a book, which is habitual for us, but happens instantly, that is, access to the entire layer of Knowledge of a given level becomes available immediately.

Any type of mental cognition must always have some kind of inner spiritual impulse that drives a person to realize the need for a complete understanding of certain issues of Existence, Life and Death, etc. Therefore, when characterizing the usual mental activity of an average developed person on Earth, we can only touch on a relatively neutral type of cognition, which we define as “curiosity”. But besides it, there is also a spiritual type of mental cognition, the driving impulse of which is the powerful desire of the Heart, cleared of gross astral vibrations, to cognize itself in its higher hypostasis. It is this driving force that is the main motive for the spiritual development of people in the conditions of all realities of the Mental Plane.

It is this feature that distinguishes the creativity of the Consciousnesses of these realities from the much more primitive type of mental cognition, so characteristic of the inhabitants of the lower sublevels of the Astral, and which is mainly involved in the small sensual-egoistic reactions of the incarnate person, on the multitude of his purely selfish motives and mercantile desires that grow in conditions sensual Matter to the incredible size of the «fix idea».

We have touched upon this vast issue here only because these three types of mental self-knowledge, fundamentally different in their quality, exist on many levels of the Thin Plan. And since they are all mixed in different proportions in the mental shells of both embodied and already disembodied people, the predominance of one of these types of mental activity is the defining impulse for the entire subsequent posthumous fate of each of us. It is the type, quality and way of our thinking that are the “fairways” along which the Soul will “trample” the path to its posthumous existence.

In my book “Soul and Space” I have already written that during the last five millionth period of human history (for some reason, earlier information was not available to human Consciousness, which draws its knowledge from the Chronicles of Akash), a large number of mental Egregors formed in the mental body of the Earth, to varying degrees, permeated with both spiritual, high-frequency and low, coarse sensual-egoistic vibrations.

In addition to what we have already said about Egregors, we add that Egregor is also a special reality («country») in the Mental World, it is a spiritually intimate, clearly outlined circle of Essences cosmically close in quality of thinking, some of the less developed Consciousness of which is in the embodied, and some of them are already in the disembodied state (see the book “Soul Chakrams”).

In this «country», in addition to more or less permanent inhabitants, mental bodies of people (or chakram personalities of these mental bodies) live, visiting it often or only occasionally, that are qualitatively with the energy structures of this Egregor in a more or less stable mental connection. Often, by purposeful impact on the sensory beginning of a person, not only the so-called are involved in the mental Egregor (mainly in its lower, permeated with sensuality) level. “Manipura” (mental) personalities, but also chakram personalities, constituting the consciously intelligent basis of the human astral body.

In the Thin Plan, the vast Egregors of all world religions have both their light, spiritualizing sub-planes, and dark mental “gorges”, “nooks”, “cellars”, “gaps” and deep “wells” reflecting the entire sphere of established mental frames, dogmas and delusions of humanity. As any earthly country has different geographic areas, large cities and small settlements, branched traffic flows, in the same way the mental Egregor has various numerous mental-information flows, as large, powerful, covering (permeating) a huge part of the Earth's Space-Time and small energy-information communications, affecting (to one degree or another controlling) only limited areas of the mental Space, which finds its material expression in the formation of various currents and sects within the framework of one religion.

The soul always incarnates on Earth with specific goals and specific intentions. Each Consciousness passing through the humanoid stage of its development (in human form), before its incarnation on the Physical Plane, receives or independently develops a certain "Plan of Incarnation", which then the physical personality on a subconscious level seeks to fulfill throughout its Life.

Not a single human Consciousness comes here without a commission. The whole point is to be able to combine your feelings and understanding in such a way that on their basis you can develop clear Consciousness. In order to evolve in general under the conditions of the Earth, a person needs at least the general foundations of cognition, which can give him the opportunity to orient himself in the surrounding conditions, to establish himself in them and then act in them with the benefit of his development.

Consciousnesses that have similar or consonant in the meaning of the task of incarnation, like an invisible magnet, are unimaginably attracted to each other and are connected to the energy of one or several energy-information bases - Egregors.

Egregors are specifically generalizing cosmic energy formations, because all earthly energy-information centers arise under the influence of strictly defined impulses emanating from various vibrational Zones of Cosmos, which from time to time sends its High Messengers to Earth to organize guidance and help people embodied in this given Time Field. Manvantaras, in each of its specific Ages.

Let us note that in relation to the development of the earthly humanoid branch, each of the Manvantaric Cycles is to a certain extent a closed spiritual culture with its own energetic-qualitative specificity of the Collective Consciousness and evolutionary features peculiar only to it. Therefore, in different Manvantaras, different cosmic Egregors, representing many types of cosmic civilizations, the number of which is not constant, enter into narrowly specific relationships with different levels of the Collective Human Reason.

For example, during the current Manvantara, the Earth is actively irradiated by the Rays of spiritual Energy, produced from three cosmic centers, to the Egregors of which twelve streams of golden color, eighteen silvery streams and twenty-two so-called Egregors ascend from humanity «diamond» steps, which are high-frequency vibration levels of various quality. Each of these Egregors is personified in the Initiates by the sign of one or another major Arcana. For example, the first, Christian, Egregor corresponds to the twelfth Arcanum, the esoteric symbol of which is the Messiah crucified on the Zodiac upside down. His legs are crossed, his arms are outstretched, symbolizing the Cross - the Cross of the Crucifixion, the Cross of Spiritual Creativity. This Symbol points out to every Initiate that it is possible to break through to one's own Spirit only through a conscious spiritual "crucifixion" of oneself (self-knowledge), through overcoming suffering that expands the framework of world outlook and self-awareness, and offering one's lower self as a spiritual Sacrifice of the individual evolution.

It is not for nothing that this Arcanum is considered the Arcanum of a voluntary cosmic and individual Sacrifice, made in the name of our future spiritual ascent. For the fulfillment of this mission, for the Path of abandoning everything material in the name of the higher, spiritual, and a person who has felt in himself, in his Heart, an organic belonging to this Egregor, must prepare himself.

The second Egregor corresponds to the eighteenth Arcanum, the esoteric symbol of which is the Woman, shining with a moon crescent and flying over the desert, on the sand of which blood-red footprints appear. The Woman (Mother of God) cries with the same tears, looking at the wolf crawling out of the puddle, at the dog howling at the moon and at the crayfish frozen in torpor.

This is the Arcanum of the greatest Compassion, selfless Love, the purpose of which is the Transformation and Ascension to their own spiritual level of all Consciousnesses, fixated on the lower Planes of Existence, but with which the Divine Woman is inextricably linked by the bonds of the past. A person who has felt his belonging to the second Egregor should prepare himself for the fulfillment of this mission.

The esoteric symbol of the twenty-second Arcanum, representing the third Egregor, is also the Woman, from behind whose head the Sun seems to rise, and at her feet is the defeated Moon. She holds lightning in one hand, and a lily in the other. This is the emblem of the Planetary Essence of the Earth, which is about to be transformed very soon, thanks to the Spiritual Creativity of the future humanity, which has grown in its self-awareness to the level of God and united in its Cosmic Creativity with Him.

By the way, it is this Egregor that is most related to the Mystery of the human androgynous. The splitting of a single human Monad into two halves - male and female - is a consequence of purposeful specific vortexes of Matter accompanying the incarnation of Consciousnesses (and not only the humanoid branch!) On the Physical Plane, which even Lucifer could not overcome. But, despite this, the Consciousnesses that decided to work through this experience of their Cosmic Existence had to go through these tests in order not to repeat the mistakes of the «luminous» Archangel.

The final «return to the House of his Father», as Jesus commanded, will become possible for human Consciousness only when, thanks to his own efforts, the destroyed integrity will be restored, «when from the two you become one and make the inner outer and the outer inner, and the upper as the lower, and when you unite the masculine and the feminine into a single whole so that the masculine will not be masculine, and the feminine will not be feminine». (Heb. From Thomas).

We have already said that each point in the common Divine (Cosmic) Mind is a potential Consciousness, which determines its “eternity”, “infinity” and complete independence from Time. But the rational formation and spiritual development of each Consciousness, starting from its inner urge to individual Evolution and ending with its result, - the acquisition of Self-Consciousness, which “did not exist before” - at the very “beginning” of the individual evolutionary Path occurs both in Eternity and in Time.

This internal transformation and qualitative transmutation of Consciousness in the manifested Worlds in time lasts an unimaginably long time, but in the cosmic World of the Plan, where the temporary ordinates are completely absent, this process takes only a “moment” that lasts forever and is constantly multiplied by itself.

In each of the manifested Worlds, human Consciousness begins the process of its formation with a qualitative split into two complementary aspects: into the «I» of a man and into the «I» of a woman. As a result of such an internal self-division, Consciousness loses its connection with its Higher Self, but on the other hand, having “redeemed” the acquired experience, it acquires Divine Self-Consciousness.

The individual «I» of a man, according to the quality of its essence, is Love, and the characteristic feature of the individual female «I» is Truth, which is the motive of all creativity. The external analogue (active spiritual expression) of the essence of the male “I” is Wisdom, based on the active deployment of Truth in Consciousness.

The essence of the female “I”, being the Truth, has its external analogue Love, based on the active comprehension of the Truth by the Spiritual Heart.

Truth is the Higher «I» of all living beings, fused in the Fire of Love into one whole so that their individuality does not dissolve, but eternally retains its activity in self-creation.

Wanting to find in a woman (in her Love) a true reflection of his own Essence (Love), a man strives for the Woman’s Love and through his own Love arising in his Heart penetrates into the Essence of the female «I», thus comprehending the Truth.

A woman, seeing in a man (or rather, in his Wisdom), a reflection of her own Essence (Truth), intuitively strives for the Wisdom of a man in order to comprehend his Essence as Love through it.

The relationship of the sexes on the Physical Plane takes place both on the astral and on the mental levels. At the same time, at some levels, a mutual attraction can arise between a man and a woman, and at others, repulsion. For example, the repulsion of some individually disharmonious vital currents of the etheric bodies can resist the attraction of the soul. And, on the contrary, often in the presence of a heart’s attraction and a harmonious identity of life currents, the Consciousness of a man is directed at all not to where the Consciousness of a woman rushes, etc.

Differences in religious worldviews and disagreements in the hierarchy of values can also be a powerful repulsive or separating force between two loving people after their disembodiment (Death). Therefore, in addition to transforming the personal relationships of a man and a woman on the path of Spiritual rebirth, it is also extremely necessary to transform the currents of their life interaction, which is carried out through the personal Consciousnesses of their chakram personalities.

In general, the same characteristics can be applied to Egregors. So, if in the first - Christian - Egregor the «male» hypostasis is qualitatively more expressed, and in the second Egregor - Love and Compassion - the «female» predominates, then in the Qualities of the Energy sent to the Earth by the third Egregor there is a generalizing and synthesizing effect directed at harmonious restoration of the general integrity of the embodied Consciousness, which by its Cosmic Nature is neither “male” or “female”.

Androgynism is the restored integrity of sex in the godlike Being of the Heavenly Adam. The sex of a person mastering the experience of physical reality is just a necessary temporary measure imposed on each embodied Soul by the conditions and laws of the physical world for a comprehensive acquisition and deeper knowledge in itself of all the qualities originally inherent in each of its two halves.

Androgynism is the manifestation of the final union of the masculine and feminine aspects of Pure Cosmic Qualities in the highest godlike Being, the final overcoming of internal discord and discord, the restoration of the image and likeness of the Image of God in the Heavenly Man. The connection of the masculine and feminine aspects in the manifested personality should be deep, not superficial. In androgynism lies the harmonious interpenetration of all parts of the male and female nature, with the aim of their final and mutually reinforcing fusion. Every part of the human being is androgynous in itself and bears the imprint of the Divine Nature manifested in Love and through Love.

Through true Love, the alienated feminine nature is reunited with the detached masculine nature, restoring the holistic image of the Heavenly Man. And in Love, this reunion is always associated with the personality of a person, with its oneness and uniqueness. Therefore, Love is the shortest path of man's ascent to his original God-likeness. Love is the return to man of the Virgin Sophia, lost by him, which should reveal to each embodied Consciousness not only the secret of femininity or masculinity, but the Ta yna of Man Himself. Only now the final Secret of the androgyne will never be solved within the limits of physical reality.

In addition to religious ones, there are also political, scientific, cultural Egregors. For example, in the twentieth century, in the range of energies of the Histurg, new Egregors were formed - of Hitler's fascism and Stalinism. Among the new scientific Egregor, one can, as an example, mention the genetic Egregor. In certain planes of Space-Time, certain components of different Egregors can mutually intersect with each other, exchanging such information and mental Energy. In other energy-informational levels, the same Egregors can enter into a fierce struggle.

The mental body of the same person, in different parts of it, can belong to several Egregors at the same time and can be in the strongest dependence on any Egregor (for example, on the Christian and cybernetic at the same time), while in another person his mental shell can do not enter into any contacts with these Egregors at all. Or their practical impact on him will be negligible.

Streams of mental information, like individual-personal Thoughts, move in the Mental World, passing from one group of individuals to another. Therefore, most of the Thoughts that come into a person's Consciousness (and how many of them settle in his subconscious!), Only seem to him the product of his own Mind, while they came to him from the outside.

A thought that came into the subconscious from the Egregor or the mental body of another being, not necessarily a person, can sit in the subconscious and only after a while emerge in Consciousness. However, only what can get stuck in the subconscious is for which there are special energy "hooks", "suckers" in it, attracting thought forms of an identical quality and level to itself. In particular, other people's thoughts of fear settle in large numbers in those who have already formed many of their own reasons for fear.

In the same way, a sexually preoccupied person will intensely attract into his subconscious and unconsciously store in it the Thoughts that come from outside, connected with sex and any opportunity for the realization of his svadhisthana disembodied personalities. On the contrary, a scientist who is extremely concentrated on some scientific problem, with his desire to overcome this problem, will attract all possible solutions to it from various mental levels of Space.

In the Mental Plane of the Earth, there are Egregors of civilizations long gone from the scene of the Earth, including those that existed long before the beginning of history, known to us from textbooks. Some of these civilizations included, as their organic central core, a powerful spiritual culture, and in many ways were immeasurably superior to modern human civilization. We are not talking about those highly developed cultures that are developing in the Space-Time of the Earth in parallel with our civilization and which also have their own vast information «niches» and «cells» in the Mental realities.

All people living on Earth carry in themselves the indelible history of Life from its very origins. This story is detailed and meticulously recorded not only in our tissues and bones, in our organs and their functions, in the cells of our brain and in our Souls, but also at various levels of the Subtle Plan. Everything, absolutely everything that we have ever experienced, being our Consciousnesses hundreds of millions of years ago - we keep traces of all this in ourselves to this day, in our seed, in the deep storerooms of our own subconsciousness. And so it will be as long as we, stage by stage, epoch by epoch, go through our earthly cycle of development.

These energy-informational levels, as well as the Egregors of other planets and Worlds, can become available to the developed human mind only if it is able to learn how to properly control its mental body. But, we repeat, in order to reach the high-vibration levels of mental Prototypes and Ideas, the human mind must get a reliable point of support in the Trinity of the Main Forces of Life, that is, in the Spirit.

It was not in vain that Archimedes argued that if there was a proper fulcrum, it would not have been too difficult for him to turn the whole world upside down.

Sometimes, however, it happens that some people, in a state of clinical Death or due to a very strong nervous shock, acquire the ability to one degree or another to penetrate with their Consciousness into some of the previously inaccessible astral-mental levels. With all its attractiveness and unusualness, such states are often fatal for an underdeveloped person, because his unprepared Consciousness, falling into the spheres of the highest Beauty and Harmony, the existence of which he did not even know, living on Earth, does not want to return back to his physical body ... If before that he led a low-quality and unworthy way of Life, then a strong mental stress or shock can draw his Consciousness into the Sphere of lower vibrations, the return from which threatens him with madness or fits of some incurable disease.

In modern people, with rare exceptions, the main point of support in their everyday way of thinking is far from at the level of highly Spiritual vibrations of mental Matter, but is thoroughly stuck in the petty earthly vanity, sliding over the gross material prerogatives of the brain. As a result of this, there can be no question of any highly Spiritual mental revelations x, since the mental pronunciation of words is only able for a very short time to tear off a person's Consciousness from the usual sensation of the physical body, directing his mental perception to one or another grounded Thought.

This also applies to the numerous “spiritual calls” that have been so powerfully imposed on people lately - the usual memorization of even very “correct” phrases without proper and constant study of Consciousness at the highest levels of the mental and astral bodies can bring with itself nothing but self-deception and overestimated self-esteem, leading to intensification of various aspects of pride.

The trouble is not that people so recklessly and uselessly squander a huge amount of spiritual Forces and Energy on powerful negative Thoughts and selfish concern only for their own desires and passions, thus tirelessly nourishing only their lower self. The trouble is that with such coarse material aspirations and unrestrained passion for endless material accumulation, people limit the level of their thoughts and interests to the limit, fixating in their Consciousness only on the most primitive sides of earthly reality.

Spending a monstrous amount of mental and spiritual Energy to achieve maximum satisfaction of only your material needs, you deprive your thinking of the ability and ability to intuitively penetrate into the deep meaning of earthly existence, voluntarily protecting yourself not only from the Eternal Source of Divine Love and Wisdom, but depriving yourself of even elementary education ... In such a Life, of course, there can be no place for any embodiment of lofty and noble feelings of altruistic Love and the joys of spiritual creativity can you talk with such people? What great Divine Ideas can be called for the realization of a gray unorganized mass of super-grounded consciousnesses ready to trample any Cosmic Laws and moral norms to satisfy their animal desires?

Unfortunately, billions of people consider this «life» to be the only acceptable and «true» one for themselves, perceiving all the numerous Spiritual calls of the Star-Born Consciousnesses as dangerous sabotage and gross encroachments on their peace and well-being. In their understanding, earthly Life would become extremely wretched and uninteresting if it did not have the opportunity for the constant manifestation of raging lower passions and sexual emotions, which would deprive them of unlimited opportunities to enjoy themselves, revel in fame, power and wealth, kill and humiliate with impunity others, etc. All these lower instincts are irresistibly pulling people to the very edge of a deep evolutionary abyss, from which only a few are able to climb out in order to continue their evolution again in the humanoid branch.

Earthly Life for all levels of the Collective Human Consciousness is a very difficult and difficult exam for spiritual and evolutionary maturity, mercilessly eliminating everything that is imperfect, low-spiritual and ugly. But we ourselves have chosen such a Path of Cognition for ourselves and we cannot simply take and bypass this stage of our development. Because in order to truly understand and meaningfully experience the Harmony and Joy of spiritual Liberation, you first need to QUALITATIVELY realize yourself to the limit as enslaved in heavy chains of material things and go through all the humiliations and vices of long-term bondage to your lower passions.

All the inhuman power of his free Cosmic Spirit, creating independently of anything earthly, all the irrepressible desire to grow spiritually further and higher is simply impossible to feel, constantly holding on to a short chain of narrow material and personal interests. Only by realizing all of your Cosmic Existence, which includes a short moment of earthly Life, like Eternity, as an endless spiritual and creative process of self-improvement in Creation, can you easily and painlessly throw off the heavy shackles of all your personal attachments and joyfully, as in the long-awaited Liberation, to enter with all your Heart into harmonious Love and Divine Light, so that you NEVER and UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES leave this exalted state.

Jesus Said, «If two are at peace with each other in the same house, they will say to the mountain, ‘Move!’ - and it will move . « (Gospel of Thomas). «House» is a physical form, a human body, and «two» is his Soul, torn apart by its opposite principles - by the Consciousnesses of its disembodied chakram personalities: on the one hand, the lower, animals, and on the other hand, the higher, teaching the first the basics of Divine Wisdom. So, when all the lower Consciousnesses of an embodied personality come into peace and complete harmony with each other, and, having cognized the Truth with the help of anahata personalities, stop tearing the embodied Soul with their strife, merging into the Harmony of Form and Spirit, then a person will be able to do the same as did Jesus too.

PROTOTYPES OF TERRESTRIAL FORMS

All prototypes (Thought-ideas) of earthly physical forms - continents and islands - are in the lowest subdivisions of the realities of concrete Thought (the seventh subplane of the Mental), in the continental Layer itself. According to these mental prototypes, the entire surface and all the Four Kingdoms on our planet are being formed. All changes taking place in the earth's crust are first made by the Supreme Aspects in the continental Layer, in accordance with the intentions planned by the Hierarchies of the Evolution of our planet, as a living self-conscious Cosmic Essence, and Consciousnesses of all types and forms that inhabit it.

This creative process can be roughly compared only with how the mental reconstruction of an already finished building occurs: first, the general Idea arises in the imagination (mind) of the architect, then the smallest details of the future structure are drawn in detailed drawings, and in the very last turn the implementation of the entire project is carried out at the construction site. Something, however, like our foremen, the Heavenly Builders of rough forms have to refine what is called «along the way», adapting to the specific tasks of Evolution. In the same way, thanks to metamorphoses, carefully planned and subsequently realized in the corresponding prototypes, all kinds of changes in the forms and types of the Plant and Animal Kingdoms occur.

We warn you against the widespread delusion to perceive the mental prototypes presented on the Physical Plane, in all the variety of their forms, as ordinary models or copies of physical forms visible and observed by us in the surrounding reality. This is far from the case, because EACH of the mental prototypes creatively and constructively models all the variety of forms they realize in the dense World, strictly “in their own image and likeness” and many of these mental Essences (Builders of Forms) often work together to create some then one certain kind of forms, each giving for this a part of himself.

In the Mental of the Earth, during the multimillion stage of its physical development, nineteen types of mental realities (areas) have ALREADY formed, one way or another tied (to one degree or another) to the main earthly cultures, each of which once stood at the top of the development of another human civilization that was developing once on Earth and currently buried in some part of the World Ocean. The smallest and most sparsely populated area can be considered inhabited by the remnants of the former Atlantic civilization.

As we have already said, after the so-called. of the «war of the gods» that took place on the Thin Plan of the Earth from the 11th to the 9th millennium BC, most of the highly developed Consciousnesses of the Atlanteans were allowed to pass into the «ethereal» Existence in the Higher Planes, where by their thought-creation they gradually formed all the main Mental Spheres and levels the so-called “Paradise” - for some of the human Consciousnesses - for a faster and more rapid Spiritual ascent, and for someone - for a dizzying Spiritual descent to much lower levels of the One Reality to carefully work out the qualities they missed in their previous development.

Almost all civilizations that once reached the highest peaks in their development on Earth perished due to interference in their Evolution by the demonic forces of Anticosmos, the center of which in the three-dimensional Space of the Earth coincides with the Antares Star system. Antiworld destroyed the civilizations of the Aztecs and Mayans, ancient Egypt and Babylon, China and India, Iran and Greece, Rome and Israel, and many other cultures.

Almost above every major human culture (European, Slavic, Indian, African, etc.) in the Mental Space (as well as in the Spaces of the Anti-World) there is a corresponding region of Paradise, where Consciousnesses fall, egregorically (territorially and religiously) tied to this geographical areas and where the Consciousness of people with a different worldview practically cannot get.

For example, a Christian cannot, after his Death, find himself in those areas first of the Astral and then of the Mental Spheres that are associated with Buddhism, Hinduism or Islam, since in the Consciousness of a Christian there is no other God except Jesus, therefore, the area with Archetypes is not corresponding to his concepts of the Divine World, the Consciousness of such a deceased person will simply not be perceived.

The level of a person's Consciousness determines not only his Being during his earthly Life, but also Super-Being after his physical Death.

A person who, during his Life and after his Death, strives for Jesus, will find himself precisely in the area of the Space of the Byzantine culture and will have the opportunity, almost always, with reverence and love trembling «with his own eyes» to contemplate only the Son of God, and not, say, Isis, Magomed or Krishna.

On the contrary, a person who has worshiped Krishna all his Life will fall into the area of Indian culture and will spend most of his inter-incarnational cycle in sweet songs and delightful dances, thus glorifying the beauty and power of Krishna. Anyone who has strived for Nirvana throughout his Life will find it in the Spaces and Spheres of Buddhist culture - one of the most powerful and populous at this period of the Earth's development.

A Chinese man who infinitely trusts Confucius or Lao Tzu will not be able to go after his Death anywhere except the mental area of Chinese culture, etc. The area of the Earth Mental is most directly related to the concept of Paradise, where the Consciousnesses of Christians of the once mighty Byzantine culture are located, which has a direct access to an extremely high Spiritual Plan, which we call “Heavenly Jerusalem”.

Spatially, this area is located over most of the former USSR and some European states. The founder of this ancient and powerful layer in the Mental Plane of the Earth is the great human Consciousness that incarnated on our planet two thousand years ago in the physical body of John the Baptist.

MENTAL COMPENSATION LEVELS

«Second Heaven» of Christians

We have already reported that the Matter of the Chemical Layer of the Physical Plane is used to construct all physical forms manifested on Earth. These forms receive Life and the ability to move thanks to the Forces working in the etheric Layer, and some of these living forms are stimulated to creative activity through the active interaction of opposite pairs of feelings (emotions) of the Astral Plane.

The Area of Concrete Thought supplies the emanations of mental Matter, into which the Higher Ideas, generated by all kinds of Prototypes at the levels of abstract Thought, clothe themselves in the form of astral Thought-forms, which are to act as regulators and balancing mechanisms in response to sensory impulses generated in the Astral World by the Consciousnesses manifested on the Physical Plane of the Earth (or any other planet in the Solar System).

The creative activity of the disembodied Consciousness in the realities of the Mental is incomparably and incomparably more versatile and diverse than on Earth. For developed self-conscious Consciousnesses, this mental activity is by no means something that could be defined as a passive, sleepy or illusory existence, as it is erroneously assumed in almost all religious denominations. On the contrary, it is here that Consciousness, incarnate on Earth, actively assimilates all the mental fruits of its last earthly Life and prepares the information basis for its new physical existence as a completely different personality, obliged to work out a different experience and other qualities in its future earthly Life.

It cannot be said that all the new conditions for the existence of the future personality will be determined based solely on the behavior and actions of the former embodied personality in its just ended earthly existence. It is required that the mature fruits of past experience also be included in the next habitat and place of action of the embodied Consciousness, where it could acquire new physical impressions and collect fresh fruits of its own experience of being in this reality.

All facts of past experiences and hobbies, trials and revelations of Consciousness, as the qualities of their vibrations increase, after Death are gradually transferred from the physical body to the astral, from the astral to the mental, and from the mental to the causal body, thus transforming into skills, inclinations and abilities.

Consequently, if the development of a person during Life has devoted some effort to the study and direction of Knowledge, then the natural consequence of this thought-creative activity will be the formation in his causal body of certain skills and abilities in this particular direction, which will allow the future personality to be much easier and deeper. master this Knowledge or skills in the next earthly incarnation.

Therefore, nothing that happens to us in earthly Life simply cannot be useless and vain, causing in us whole storms of indignation and disappointment: everything that is done is all for the better, because the result of any of our activities, even if it turned out to be in this incarnation, vain and vain, are precious grains of experience, which will subsequently melt in the Mental into our new abilities and talents. All the numerous defeats and failures, about which we so bitterly experienced in our earthly Life, after disincarnation will be transformed into instruments of victory, and the energies of qualities that accompanied us in all our earthly sorrows and endured sufferings will develop into Wisdom and Will, which the future personality can use in your new Life to achieve your goals and fulfill your new good aspirations.

Paradise is not some amorphous state of aimless idleness, well-fed tranquility and lazy self-contemplation, but a new opportunity for the evolving Consciousness to spiritually develop further, freeing itself from coarse materiality and not spending inner strength on overcoming an infinite number of the most ridiculous obstacles so characteristic of our earthly reality.

Paradise is not only a state of inexpressible bliss and tranquility for a weary Soul. Here everything that was most valuable in the intellectual and spiritual experiences of a person during his last incarnation, undergoes deep internal processing and gradual transformation into certain spiritual qualities, which will provide the basis for the further development of the Soul in its next Life.

But - and this must always be taken into account! - here each Consciousness can work only with those volumes of information and mental materials (qualities of Energy) that the embodied personality managed to master in his last Life and managed to accumulate in his previous incarnations. Here Consciousness, depending on the future goals and objectives of incarnation, has a real opportunity to forge in itself a reliable «weapon» for its future spiritual battles on Earth from the «material» that it itself was able to melt during all its incarnations.

And the better, the purer the source material is, the more reliable the «weapon» will be. For each person, to the extent of his development, this «weapon» has its own effectiveness and reliability: for someone it is a wooden «spear», for someone - a clumsy «musket», and for someone who fully cognized the power of Love and Light - a powerful «strategic setting» that allows you to cope with any unexpected attacks.

The stay of Consciousness in the realities of the Mental is the period of the greatest and most important work on its self-preparation for the next Life, just as sleep is an active form of preparation for the work of the next day. It is here that the three Permanent Atoms of the former three body-conductors harmoniously (or, conversely, disharmoniously!) Line up into the Trinity of the Main Forces of Life, thereby determining the main tasks for their future incarnation in a new personality.

This means that that part of the astral body, which a person carefully and reliably worked during his earthly Life, clearing his desires and emotions from lower vibrations, will be forever fused into the aspects of the qualities of an analogue Soul, thereby allowing each of its many Soul-aspects improve similar qualities of all their own chakram Consciousnesses of disembodied personalities in their future incarnation.

This means that that part of the etheric body that Consciousness has processed, transformed, spiritualized and, thereby, saved from decomposition, which the rest of the etheric shell is subject to, will also be forever «implanted» into it, which makes it possible to provide the future embodied personality with the etheric body better quality and greater etheric mobility in its next manifestations on the Physical Plane. This also means that that part of the physical body that a person saved by his correct actions during Life will also provide him with more expanded physical capabilities in his next incarnation.

Such a purposeful spiritualization of the physical vehicle is achieved through the cultivation of such abilities as observation, intelligibility and memory, devotion to high ideals, prayer and faith, concentration and meditation, perseverance and the correct use of all life forces.

Let us remind you that the vibrations of the Energy that make up the astral and mental aspects of human memory are not uniform in quality. Therefore, it may well turn out that the Soul of one person, who during his Life thought little about the spirituality of his Thoughts and actions, but was kind and gentle, will remain in a «drowsy» state, because all his memory was made up of vibrations of feelings that were transformed into sensory features of his Consciousness even during his stay in the Astral.

The «storeroom» of memory is also in the astral body. With a large amount of memory and a high quality of vibrations of the material that composes it, the best part is deposited in the mental body. We can say that the higher the quality of the Energy of memory, the better and more the deceased will remember about his earthly Life, being in a disembodied state.

A particularly qualitative part of the energies of memory is made up of deep Thoughts and reflections about God, about Good, about Love for people, for the Earth and for the entire Creation. The average person during his Life uses more not the mental, but the sensory part of the energies of memory, intuitively using for this a smaller and far from the highest quality part of the Energy of synthesis of his Soul. And all negative information concerning the emotional side of our Life is processed by Consciousness during its stay in Purgatory and, gradually being erased, is processed into what can be defined as “bitter life experience”.

In the Mental World, from the former earthly personality, the disembodied Soul gets only that which was directly related to the thought process at the level of emanations of Thoughts of a highly spiritual plane. For example, the trivial feeling of love for some specific people after the stay of the Consciousness of the disembodied personality in the various Spheres of Purgatory is completely erased. But if this pure and disinterested feeling also contributed to the emergence of a feeling of love for people in general, for Nature, for the surrounding Cosmos, then this aspect of emotions remains in the mental memory.

After working through all the negative qualities in the realities of Purgatory, in the Consciousness of the deceased, the following transformation of his astral qualities into mental ones takes place: determination and fearlessness are formed into courage and devotion; the ability to sincere repentance and self-abasement - to conscientiousness and altruism; stubbornness and perseverance - into endless patience and unyielding tolerance; ingenuity and resourcefulness - into intuition; gaiety and cheerfulness - into reasonable optimism; gentleness and sociability - in humor, etc. Now you can at least in general outline the qualities that distinguish the inhabitants of the realities of the Astral from those who constitute highly spiritual mental communities in the Space of the Earth.

With Beings from higher levels of the Mental, each time an embodied Soul, upon arrival in a reality of this type, will be able to communicate only to the extent that it itself will be able to respond to their vibrations. And although these Cosmic Consciousnesses were able to significantly outstrip the "average" human Soul in their spiritual development, yet in each more or less developed Soul there is always a certain amount of Matter of a higher quality, which is the potential basis for its mental and sensory communication with Consciousnesses Higher Worlds.

These subtlest vibrations are the immortal Body of Light or Causality, and if it is sufficiently developed in a long series of earthly incarnations, then nothing is able to erase them from Consciousness. The Higher Cosmic Essences help each disembodied Consciousness to gradually adapt and get used to its new Life, contributing to its growth and gradual ascent to higher levels.

Communicating at a high-informational level with these Great Beings, the Soul comprehends the basics of the Cosmic Truth, learns from them more mature, unearthly Wisdom and deeper Spiritual experience, absorbing the knowledge that is lacking for it, and thus cognizes the universality of the Main Cosmic Laws, which provide various opportunities for evolutionary advancement, which makes each of her subsequent incarnations on Earth (or in other Worlds) more fruitful and deeper. After a visual assimilation in practice of such Lessons of Wisdom in the realities of the Mental Plan, Consciousness returns for a new experience to the Earth much more matured and spiritually strengthened than before, and the very goal of the new incarnation and the diverse ways of achieving it become more and more definite and understandable for him.

But the creative activity of human Consciousnesses of varying degrees of development in the Mental Plan is not limited to only one alteration of the dense surface of the Earth, which will very soon become the arena of grandiose physical and astral-mental transformations. They are also actively engaged in the detailed study of how to build various shell bodies that will provide them with better opportunities for self-expression in denser types of reality.

One of their problems, in particular, is the construction of universal energy-informational shells that could be easily modeled by the incarnating Consciousness itself and, at its request, if necessary, quickly transformed into Matter of higher frequencies, as if abruptly “falling out” of this reality. In this direction, the inhabitants of the Fiery World have already accumulated a fairly extensive experience, but the search for even more perfect forms of self-expression in dense material forms of existence continues continuously.

The purpose of an earthly person is to become in the end a self-creating and self-creating Mind, but so far he is, as it were, in learning, gradually cognizing himself and his greatest creative possibilities. So throughout his “paradise” Life, he not only indulges in spiritual and emotional pleasures unique in Beauty and Harmony, but also learns many different cosmic wisdom, one of which is to independently select and build all kinds of shell-bodies for future incarnations, including human.

Describing the properties of Ether, we have already talked about the Forces that actively and purposefully act along the positive and negative poles of various Ethers. Everything that is aimed at assimilation (assimilation) and excretion (excretion) is brought into interaction by these Reasonable Forces. Man himself is an integral part of these Forces. In one of his songs V. Vysotsky wrote: “Our dead will not leave us in trouble, our fallen ones are like sentries” ... And this is true, because those whom we call “dead” are precisely those who helps us, while we are still alive, to live.

They, the dead, in turn, are helped on different Planes by the so-called «nature spirits» that they own. The activities of the still embodied and already disembodied human Souls are continuously directed by spiritual Teachers from the higher Creative Hierarchies, Who helped the Consciousnesses to build their vehicles even before people attained self-consciousness. But since the level of self-awareness of many billions of people has incomparably increased over hundreds of thousands of years of development, now, just as the creator gods themselves did before, the human Soul mentally builds all its bodies of manifestation for itself, staying in mental realities:

- the future talented artist creates for himself an even sharper and more keen eye for his future incarnation, capable of grasping the desired perspective and more subtly distinguishing colors and their shades;
- the future great mathematician, in order to further improve his spatial imagination, is scrupulously working here on a thorough mental «fine-tuning» and fine «grinding» of three semicircular canals located inside his future ear, each of which reacts sharply to the vibrations of one of the three dimensions of Space;
- the future musician of genius, in addition to these same channels, very finely tunes in the future organs of his hearing about three thousand so-called. «fibers of Corti», each of which is capable of interpreting about twenty-five gradations of tone, and so on.

The law of mental creativity is this: no one can live in a more perfect body than the one that he is able to build for himself. First, Consciousness learns to build a body of a certain degree of intellectual development and emotional complexity, and only then, having embodied in it on this or that type of reality, it actively learns to live in this body and acquire exactly that experience, which, according to its understanding, it lacks, to bring all the Forces of your Trinity into a harmonious state.

During its earthly Life, the Soul in practice discovers all the shortcomings of its created body of incarnation, and only then, upon returning to its Spiritual homeland, the Supreme Beings will patiently teach it how to eliminate the revealed imperfections of its guides and how to significantly improve their qualities.

The main creative work of Consciousness on the embodiment of the Thought-form carefully created by it in the Mental begins during the intrauterine development of the human embryo, that is, starting from the first three to four weeks of pregnancy of the future mother of the person embodied on Earth. Before that, starting from the very moment of conception or fertilization of an egg, this purely physical process belongs exclusively to the mother's organism.

The mother's body unconsciously performs its work until it reaches the moment when the newly incarnating Consciousness determines that the quintessence of its former shell-bodies stored by it in the Permanent Atoms can be successfully incorporated into the energy of the new body built by the mother's body on the basis of the existing one in him of genetic material.

Only after the incarnating Consciousness, having carefully checked the entire genetic gamut of energies of the embryo of the future person with the prototype created by him in the Mental and having made sure of their full identity, the moment comes for the practical application of the creative power acquired by him in the Mental. From this moment, the conscious creative work of the incarnating Consciousness itself begins.

Therefore, the more Consciousness moves forward in its individual evolution, the more intensively and purposefully it works to improve the qualities of all its guide bodies, the more exceptional abilities each of the personalities embodied by it on Earth acquires, and, therefore, the more opportunities it receives for individual manifestation in future incarnations.

Thus, human Consciousness learns to build its future bodies in the Area of Concrete Thought of the Mental (Second Heaven), and learns to use them in practice already during its manifestation in the Physical World. Nature provides all phases of passing trials and assimilating experience so amazingly and so wisely that as the embodied Consciousness learns to look deeper and deeper into its secret recesses, it becomes more and more aware of its own insignificance and experiences an ever-increasing reverence for the grandeur and perfection of Creation.

In the Mental, there are practically no boundaries for the possibilities of Imagination of the Consciousnesses located here and their creative realization. But in order to use your power, you also need to trust your imagination, which, like a child, you need to creatively encourage and believe in it, otherwise it will not be able to develop productively and will not be able to create perfectly. That unshakable force that makes mental creativity possible in the Subtle World does not leave Consciousness even when it is again clothed with the coarse Matter of the Physical Plane for its next incarnation. Only now, as a result of still insufficient consolidation, this power soon fades away in many people and the Imagination, squeezed into the rigid framework of human conditioning, gradually loses its former confidence and obvious effectiveness.

Inhabitants of the Mental World can freely perceive not only their own creations - Thought forms, but also the Thoughts of other beings living in this reality or in the Astral Worlds and consisting of coarser thought emanations. For all highly developed Mental Beings, any Thought images of people are always visible.

The substance of the Mental World is so light and plastic that it can be unusually easily folded into forms created by the most daring and most grandiose Imagination. Mental is a Paradise for great artists, talented musicians, brilliant poets, architects and others, exclusively “gifted” (because no one simply donates anything to anyone, and all abilities are acquired by Consciousness in persistent evolutionary work!) Creative personalities who have got the opportunity here fully use, further improve your talent and make all your most daring creative desires a reality. That is why the highest and harmonious architecture of habitats (they cannot even be compared to the smallest extent with the earthly types of cities and towns familiar to us) constantly amazes with its unearthly splendor and organic integrity.

The landscapes of the various spheres of the Higher Worlds not only differ significantly from the landscapes of the underlying Plan, but also have little resemblance to each other. Only at the lowest levels of the area of Concrete Thought can one find certain spiritual prototypes of our earthly cities, but completely different from ours not only in their structure, but also in the splendor of their buildings. Although the habitats of the inhabitants of Mental can only be called «houses» in our usual sense. Any inhabitant of the Mental, relying on the experience and taste of the former greatest sculptors of the Earth, who are at this level, have the opportunity, with the help of Thought, to create such magnificent dwellings and surroundings for them, which cannot even be dreamed of on the Physical Plane.

In the architecture of buildings there is not even the most distant hint of the limitations and squalor of gross astral Thought, which often find their embodiment in earthly architecture. But in the silhouettes of the buildings of the first and second steps of Paradise, one can still guess some of the most highly artistic styles that are familiar to us, albeit executed with an incomparably higher and subtle taste.

This happens because, before manifesting on the Physical Plane in the form of masterpieces of architectural art, the Thought-ideas of these structures acquire a mental form in the Higher Worlds and only then, saturated with subtle emanations of the psychic energy of many people of the creative mind, receive their sensual expression in the Subtle World ... This means that each masterpiece of art in the Mental has its own "individual Soul", although devoid of the immortal Divine Monad, but still having its own mental, astral and physical bodies of manifestation.

But in the Mental there are also such structures that have no analogues either on the Physical or on the Astral Planes. Some of the Ideas of these majestic, divine in beauty and harmony, architectural ensembles were more than once captured by the geniuses of the architectural art of the Earth, but due to a temporary ban on their implementation by the Hierarchs of the Higher Worlds, an insurmountable ban was imposed on their implementation.

The purpose of these grandiose and most magnificent structures is communication with other Worlds and with the Supreme Aspects of other Cosmic Hierarchies. There are also special structures in the Mental for communication with the Monads of elementals, with the communities of Collective Souls of plants and animals, with the Leaders of the individual stages of Paradise, etc.

In the area of the Space of Byzantine culture, I once had to observe several majestic and indescribable beauty and elegance of the temples intended for the meeting of the inhabitants of Mental with the Consciousness of Christ-Maitreya, sometimes manifested here in a human form. One of the Temples, which I had a chance to visit during the astro-trip, is intended for the meetings of the inhabitants of this mental reality with the Queen of Heaven - the Divine Mother of the World.

In addition to these temples, the construction of two heavenly Temples, which is of the greatest scale and beauty, is now underway, one of which should soon become the abode of the Bride of our Planetary Logos - the great God-born Monad, the exponent of the Eternal Femininity.

A panorama of the Nature of only the lowest layers of the Mental (realities of the Area of Concrete Thought), albeit very distantly, but still reminds of the most charming corners of our earthly Nature. But the higher you ascend with your Consciousness through the numerous levels of the Mental, the more distant and inexpressibly more beautiful the surrounding pictures of landscapes and reality will remind you of the Earth.

Perhaps only a view of a blue-pink sky with fluffy-silvery lilac clouds can at least remotely remind a disembodied Soul of the most pleasant moments of her earthly Life, the rest of the whole environment is so close to incredible magic and stunningly magnificent fantasy that no words can describe what is happening, since the Soul contemplates what is happening around not outside, but as if from within itself, being an integral part of the slightest metamorphosis taking place in this World.

Our seas and oceans turn into endless expanses of light and easily permeable vapors shining from within, consisting of sea elementals frolicking and shimmering with all the colors of the rainbow. Earthly rivers and lakes are represented here by the subtlest emanations of inexpressible beauty - the elements of rivers and lakes. Endless expanses filled with luminous and sparkling iridescent streams of ether are also light elementals, shining with colors and colors inaccessible to our imagination. They gently, gracefully and smoothly wash certain forms, barely discernible in the general radiance, which, only with great stretch, could be compared with the earthly ridges of bluish-azure and silvery-white colors.

It is useless to even talk about the plant world - these clever, loving and most tender Beings, striving with their whole existence to bring the Soul the greatest joy, cannot even imagine, clouded by a primitive and rude attitude to earthly flora and fauna, limited by its own importance and exclusivity, human Consciousness. These Creatures are the Collective Souls of those whom we pluck in armfuls from flower beds and lawns, mow with combines and grind into flour, cut down and burn them to make a barbecue ...

The change of “day” and “night” here has a completely different quality and is practically not felt by anything else , as a state of some mental “activity” or “passivity”, creating a feeling of some kind of constant creative rhythm, when there is a desire to change one type of mental activity to qualitatively different. These periods are in no way tied to the changes of day and night on Earth, and therefore, when the Earth is enveloped in night, during a conscious astro exit into these Worlds I can observe an amazingly beautiful and grandiose spectacle - the “rising” of the Sun, but not ours, physical, but completely another, mental-fiery, spiritualizing everything around and overflowing all the inhabitants of the Mental with an unbridled desire to create and improve themselves.

With regard to “weather”, one can only say that it is much more dependent on the state of Consciousness than other manifestations of Nature and has a more personal character. We remind you that everything THERE has the ability to BE is a STATE OF CONSCIOUSNESS, and is not caused by some purely external circumstances, independent of the desire or unwillingness of the individual. For example, if it is raining here, on Earth, then someone may like it, but someone may not.

THERE, if the memories of the most wonderful minutes of swimming in the sparkling streams of warm summer «blind» rain suddenly appeared in your memory, then this event, but on an incomparably higher sensual note, will happen here too - and only only for you alone, so how at the same time one of your friends who live nearby may wish to soak up sweetly under the velvet rays of the golden sun on the soft sand of the ocean coast.

In addition to the Souls that are abiding, that is, those for whom this level of Paradise is the next step on the path of their ascent to the Higher Worlds, other Beings also live in the Mental - pure Consciousnesses of future Angels. These are the most wonderful God's creatures, whose presence so adorns Life in the Paradise Spheres, and whose endless Love and care help the abiding Souls to spend their time in the Mental more productively and effectively.

These Essences have already passed their cycle of development on Earth, and as they have been Spiritually improved in the rank of Angels, They are predetermined in the next Manvantaric cycle to become «solar Archangels» and carry out more important tasks on the paths of Divine Providence. We want to remind you that Angels and Archangels created Beginnings from Themselves, Which, in Their Divine Essence, are Souls-analogues of Star-Born Consciousnesses, working off the Karma of Co-Creators at all five lower levels of their own Creation (physical, astral, mental, causal and buddhic).

CHARACTERISTIC OF THE MAIN ENERGY AND INFORMATION SPHERES OF THE MENTAL

So, having thoroughly cleansed in the Astral Spheres from coarse energy vibrations, Consciousness, harmoniously embodying the Trinity of the Main Forces of Life, manifests itself in the Space of the so-called. «Second Heaven» located in the Realm of Concrete Thought. The sheath of the Mind that envelops the Existing ones also contains the Three Permanent Atoms - the informational quintessence of the three conductors (physical, etheric and astral) thrown off as unnecessary.

Being in the four lower Spheres of the Realm of Concrete Thought, a person's Consciousness still continues to be clothed in its previous mental body, developed on Earth, which to a large extent limits the manifestation of all its potential capabilities in the Mental. Therefore, at first, having got here, Consciousness usually begins to engage in thorough and meticulous work on processing all its mental and spiritual experience, collected by it in its last Life on Earth, gradually translating the processed mental experience into permanent properties and qualities of spiritual properties.

Having left its astral body, and being in a state of complete self-awareness, Consciousness enters special sanctuaries, where it is in a state of extraordinarily radiant and endless peace of mind, so complete and carefree that no earthly concept can convey even a faint hint of its spiritualized state. This can be very roughly compared with a sweet nap under the most gentle and quietest music that lulls Consciousness, more reminiscent of light bursts of a stream and the gentle rustle of the breeze caressing the body on a warm summer day ...

This is the Great Peace or «point of Silence» in which the process of transmutation of the lower mental energies into the higher vibrations of experience and intellectual abilities takes place. For a while, everything seems to have disappeared, the Soul can neither think logically, nor think concretely, there is also not a single living, pronounced ability in it, but at the same time, it knows for sure, it is fully REALIZED that it IS. The soul experiences such a blissful feeling that it seems to it that it is completely alone placed in the «Great ETERNAL», but at the same time there is not even a hint of fear in it, it is absolutely not afraid of anything, and only inside it everything is filled with wonderful peace, Great Silence, superior in strength and depth of sensations to any understanding. Although to say that in this state she feels something, it would also not be entirely correct.

The most charming melodies quietly sound around the Soul, the most delicate shades of iridescent pictures replace each other before its opened inner gaze, and even the “air” itself becomes a part of this incessant and amazingly beautiful light-music, which introduces the Soul into this state of endless Harmony.

Newly arrived Souls in Paradise who are in this deceased state can be compared to earthly children aged 3 to 7 years. This is the real «childhood of the Soul» - carefree and carefree, when she completely surrenders only to her fantasies, inflamed by her mental memory, and images of all the best and most pleasant that have ever taken place in her earthly Life. During this period, the change in age cycles, familiar and natural for earthly development, is replaced by a gradual increase in intelligence, enlightenment and spiritual strength.

At this time, the Beings, for whom the highest levels of Paradise have long since become their home, look after the newcomer with inexhaustible Love and feminine Caress. Gradually, they completely imperceptibly for their ward produce the necessary subtle influences on his mental body, as a result of which it becomes even more refined and high-quality, more subject to their Consciousness and its desires. Although here any impulses of Thinking Matter in some direction of activity cannot even be called desires. Rather, everything that makes Consciousness move here is simply a natural spiritual necessity, and not a specific desire for something.

Since the Matter of Thought does not differ at all from the Matter of the surrounding Space, then any such need for Consciousness is immediately fulfilled and satisfied. And let it sound strange to many, but this is the kind of creative spiritual work, as a result of which the information received during earthly Life, through its careful study and detailed study, is transformed into an invaluable life experience. Each Consciousness that dwells in the Mental really creates for itself the entire life that surrounds it, and the spiritual community itself, and even Nature, the beauty of which can be endlessly improved depending on the wealth of imagination and the power of the Thought of Consciousness.

Seventh sphere (outer)

The lowest or outer Sphere of the Mental is inhabited by the relatively least spiritually and intellectually advanced Consciousnesses, whose sincere love or disinterested affection was limited on Earth by family, relatives or friends. Such a person always wanted to lead a more exalted Life, but due to a number of character flaws, he was not yet able to take the path of stable spiritual self-improvement.

Many of them simply felt a sincere admiration for someone who, in their own opinion, was cleaner and more decent than they, who was capable of deeds higher and noble, for which the person himself, sincerely admiring the nobility and decency of others, was not yet internally ready, but which I would always like to accomplish. Since such a person always altruistically and with great sympathy thought about other people close to him, more than about himself, he, in addition to his Will, all the time during Life created vibrations of altruistic aspirations, which, in turn, being assimilated by him The soul in the form of temporary properties, in the future, will again begin to manifest itself in all its earthly incarnations.

Due to the fact that the intellectual and spiritual development of a person after his Death remains at the same level achieved during Life, not only highly developed Consciousnesses, but also the Souls of people who have barely emerged from a semi-wild state, who feel the feelings of disinterested love, reside in this Sphere members of their tribe or clan were allowed to taste all the sweets of Paradise Life before the next incarnation. Naturally, all of them here are divided according to a resonant feature, such as the level of intelligence, and are united in the corresponding spiritual communities on that basis.

There are many Souls here that Death took from the Physical Plane at the apogee of their lofty feelings, for example, towards a bride or groom; or, for example, compassionate grandparents, blinded by their boundless affection for their grandchildren, who amazed those around them with their all-forgiving love and self-sacrifice.

Here, surrounded by the archetypes dear to her heart, the Soul plunges into Love and Piety not only in relation to the objects of its ardent feelings remaining on Earth, but also to all the Beings of this Sphere. While on Earth, a person recognizes other people only from one side - a chorus of osh or bad - sometimes stubbornly not noticing, or not wanting to notice other qualities of this or that person.

If he felt strong sympathy or affection for someone on Earth, then here, in the lower Sphere of the Mental, other, true (and very often negative) qualities of the object of his feelings will not be taken into account at all, since in the Consciousness and memory of the deceased only the ideal of a person who actually lived (or continues to live) on Earth will remain. In addition, all lofty feelings are preserved for a sincerely loved person before: friendship, sympathy, altruism, etc., that is, all desires for highly sensual and highly intellectual pleasure, excluding, of course, sex, passion, etc.

Here, as in any other Sphere of the Mental, the Soul can be surrounded by mental images of only those people whom a person in his earthly Life either loved very much, or had special respect and sympathy for them. This happens because in the memory of the deceased, who has somehow fallen into these qualitative levels of the Mental, all the best and dearest for his heart is preserved, and since the substance of the surrounding World draws material for creativity only from the Consciousness of the Soul itself, from the baggage of its memories thoroughly cleansed of all bad and negative, then the surrounding Space is gradually filled with all those who loved and respected a person on Earth.

But these are not at all some ghostly and foggy ghosts, spreading into flakes with every gust of wind. Not at all! Each image that lived on Earth, in the heart of the deceased, acquires its usual and usual density, liveliness, seeming «independence», becoming a «living» companion of the Soul for the entire time of its stay at this stage of Paradise. The appearance of each of its earthly friends, the Soul creates and creates from the Thought-Matter of the Space around it by the efforts of its Will and Thought: high feelings, imagination, fantasy.

That which on Earth could exist only in the form of a mental picture, here turns into a concrete Thought-image, which has its own mental atmosphere - even more alive and «real» than if it were clothed in a physical body. But this does not mean at all that, being in Paradise, you will be able to get in touch with those who remained on Earth, especially if your contacts with them were of an exclusively physical or astral nature, not to mention the fact that none of your enemies left on Earth, you cannot even remember here. The lower vibrations of negativism of any kind simply cannot dwell in the Mental.

The property of our memory is such that it absorbs, like a sponge, all the smallest events that have happened to us sometime, and even the most seemingly insignificant nuances: a special smell, rust, the color of a button on a shirt and much, much more. that we, as it seems to us, have long forgotten. But nothing disappears in the annals of memory!

Therefore, the images of all familiar people appear in the Mental not only in a completely unchanged form, but exactly as we imagined them, depending on the impression they made on us. Maybe their inner essence was completely different, but since a person was able to leave such a pleasant trace in your heart, then this is how you will meet him in your own, individual Paradise. If the cordial, emotional connection was really true and sincere, then in Paradise it acquires simply unlimited scales due to the fact that no grief, misfortune or suffering can interfere with your Life and disturb its complete balance, completeness and harmony. In Paradise, Souls are united only by the sympathetic harmony of Thoughts and hearts, therefore, everything that does not have heart and intellectual closeness on Earth simply does not have the opportunity to express itself there. The sprout of sincere and pure earthly Love in the Mental is able to blossom into a magnificent flower, to unfold into a higher power and beauty, because there will be no reasons that can at least somehow darken or destroy a true sublime feeling.

The souls of people who get here still have very little spiritual material for building new spiritual qualities: in order to move towards higher-quality vibrations, they will have to incarnate more than once, each time strengthening and expanding their spiritual inclinations towards moral improvement, steadily striving for Good, Beauty and inner Harmony.

The state of such a Soul at this level of the Mental cannot be called very active, since most of it dwells in the bliss of that heavenly happiness and peace that it is able to comprehend, contain and feel in itself. The archetypes with which she surrounds herself during her akashic sleep are not particularly complex and are limited to a very narrow circle of the closest people, and the existence of such a Consciousness is loaded with something more or less mundane: a house on the bank of a calm river or a calm sea, meadows and forests, listening to birdsong, beautiful music, etc.

Purity and Harmony of the Mental Plane have an exciting effect on the still nascent abilities and qualities of such a Soul, causing in it the appearance of hidden properties that will have to manifest themselves in a new Life.

Sixth sphere (preparatory)

Some time after being in the state of boundless peace and bliss that we have just described, which lasts differently for each Soul, it begins to feel in itself, as it were, a joyful increase in vitality that is increasingly overflowing from within, gradually leading the Soul out of passive state, and arousing in her an unrestrained need for active creative activity.

We repeat once again that many undeveloped Souls do not experience this impulse until the time comes for their next incarnation. Gradually, this feeling of the possibility of unimpeded movement in any direction of the four-dimensional Space increases to such an extent that the Soul eventually does not notice how it moves to the layer of the sixth Sphere, where it will spend the main part of its time in the Mental. Usually this layer is located in that part of the four-dimensional Space, in the three dimensions of which the country or the people, to which the Soul previously belonged, while in the embodied state, is located.

The second subdivision of the Area of Concrete Thought (the sixth subplane of the Mental) is called the «oceanic Layer» - this is a fluid, pulsating life principle in all earthly forms, working through the four Ethers. It is presented here in the form of numerous prototypes, represented on the Physical Plane of the Earth by four types of Ethers. By the example of their activities, it is easy to understand that all Life is one and whole in all its manifestations.

This Sphere includes the Souls of people who sincerely believe in God, no matter what Name they call Him. This piety is qualitatively very different from the religious feeling that the Soul experiences while in the upper divisions of the Astral. There, this feeling is invariably associated with some selfish calculations, with the hope of deriving some benefit from one's faith or receiving a reward. Here, however, faith is devoid of any selfish motivation.

But, at the same time, it is not necessary to confuse this stage of belief with even higher levels of its manifestation, which can be manifested in the achievement of any very high goal, achieved exclusively from Love for God. Here the believer sees in his Deity - whether it be Buddha, Krishna, Shiva, Christ or someone else - rather an object for his worship than a Great Instructor and Teacher. Here the Soul plunges into blissful religious ecstasy and adoration of God, it seems to completely dissolve in the rapture of its love, merging with the form of God that their feeling found on Earth.

So, many of the Christians, whose development is still at a rather low level, are busy here with blind adoration of Jesus or the Mother of God. And from this the state of their bliss does not become less, - their happiness and satisfaction are completely full, since they receive here exactly what they most appreciated in their Life.

The feeling and understanding of Happiness by each person entirely depends on the inner strength of his Soul, on the height that incarnation, but also for its previous incarnations, it reached not only for its last incarnation. If only the sensual voice of blood and flesh sounds in you, then your dreams and your happiness do not rise above the interests of the physical body, no matter how beautiful and desirable they may be.

Therefore, after disincarnation (Death), you, as a person, will not be able to go beyond the levels that make up the material basis of the so-called. "Worlds of doubles". But if your sublime Thought constantly and irresistibly enravels your Consciousness in the sphere of spiritual Love, then you are able not only to hear how the Heart of another person sounds to you in unison, but also to joyfully sound together with him in a single spiritual harmony.

Not a single disembodied Consciousness feels alienated, redundant or abandoned in this heavenly Sphere, since the Lord is clothed for everyone in familiar forms. The Lord will appear to each of these Consciousnesses exactly as a person imagined Him in Life, no matter what country he lived in.

Our spiritual Teachers, representing various levels of the Higher Mind, deliberately limit Themselves with dense Matter in order to be more accessible to the still limited level of development of people who are not able to understand, but still sincerely love God. They meet each of the dead in all the majesty of His Beauty and Glory, but slowly each disembodied Consciousness itself begins to understand not only the infinite diversity and versatility of the Supreme Reason, but also His infinite Omnipresence and Love.

Here everything is consciousness continues spiritually enriched by developing the qualities of purity and devotion, changing under the influence of polar light of this high spiritual unity, which allows them some time in the composition of aggregate figures again to return to Earth with a strongly increased capacity for selfless love and irresistible striving to develop this great quality in oneself even more. But one should not think that the entire Life of the Soul at this level of Paradise consists only in endless religious ecstasy, although for many, intellectually undeveloped Consciousnesses, it leaves the basic state of their paradise existence. This Sphere presents for all Consciousnesses vibrating in the range of its frequencies practically unlimited opportunities to gradually develop all the other qualities of their intellect and Heart that they possessed on Earth.

The main factor in the direction of the Soul in the afterlife is not its territorial earthly affiliation, but egregorial subordination, that is, to which spiritual Egregor a person gave his best mental Energy and from which Egregor he himself fed his inner forces. If a person preferred to give most of his earthly existence for meditative communication with Buddha, then after Death he will fall into that resonant Zone of the mental Sphere where Buddhists live; if for a person the whole meaning of Life was reduced to trusting in Christ or the Mother of God, then his posthumous environment will, accordingly, be exclusively of Christians, etc.

By the way, all sensual and emotional disagreements within religions and beliefs belong to the category of lower emotions and vibrational they cannot manifest themselves in the realities of the Mental, therefore there is not only division, say, Christians into all sorts of sects and trends, but even when communicating with the Consciousness of the Other confessions retain the greatest respect, love and understanding that on Earth would never fit in a mind rigidly limited by rigid religious dogmas and far-fetched prejudices.

Inhabitants of the lower levels of Paradise can also see the Thought forms of living people and, adding the power of their Will to the Will of a person, can help us to realize our good and lofty designs into a material form. We, in our daily bustle and spiritual confusion, most often simply do not notice this spiritual help, or, being surprised by the sudden favorable “coincidences of circumstances”, we thank the Lord for His good pleasure to us. Thus, the Divine Plan for the Evolution of Consciousnesses is realized through a multitude of Consciousnesses-intermediaries living at various levels of the One Reality.

If you, according to the quality of your inner state, will constantly be in the Divine Stream of Love and Harmony, and will not create destructive vortices of lower energies (irritation, aggression, hatred, envy, jealousy, etc.) in your own Aura, then you by doing so, you will continuously attract to yourself the vibrations of the high-quality energies of Divine Grace and ensure the rapid spiritual development of all chakram personalities that form and represent you as a human being in this phenomenal world.

Many of Mental's artists and sculptors are in close creative collaboration with earthly masters and through their inner gaze try to inspire them to truly brilliant creations. It was in this joint way that many icons and images were created and are being created, inspired to write through the mediation of the anahatic chakram personalities of the embodied person. Also, many outstanding poets and philosophers of this Plan are fruitfully working with earthly talents, taking on the duties of the so-called. «Moose» and «Fey».

Based on my own experience, I will say that none of my books have actually been written by those whom everyone knows as “Sergei Tsvelev”, because IN REALITY, SUCH A SPECIFIC PERSONALITY DOES NOT EXIST IN REALITIES . Here are many chakram personalities who, in one way or another, qualitatively manifest themselves through this earthly person - THEY are!

It is they, in particular, the collective of Vishuddha and anahatic disembodied personalities (Aljellis, Lua Andis, Gray Win, etc.), who are the full co-authors of each of the books allegedly written by “Sergei Tsvelev”, who, in fact, performs only a modest role a physical implementer or a kind of «adapter» for the perception by people of one of the multitude of highly spiritual creative Thought-Ideas transmitted to the Physical Plane by highly developed Fiery Aspects as «information for thought».

That is why I always insist that the readers of my books pay as little attention as possible to this COMPLEX earthly personality, from which, as such, after disincarnation, nothing will remain except the most detailed Record of her earthly Life, recorded in the «Akashic Chronicles» Noosphere of the Earth.

Fifth sphere (balancing)

The third subdivision of the Area of Concrete Thought (the fifth subplane of the Mental) is a very peculiar, in terms of its exceptional mental qualities, an “air” Layer, where the highest Prototypes (Ideas) of all earthly desires, passions, feelings and emotions manifested in one or another Astral reality through the Consciousnesses of the personalities embodied in them in accordance with the quality of the vibrations of the Matter, which constitutes the given reality. The special specificity of this energy-informational level lies in the fact that in it all the creative activity of Consciousnesses inhabiting the Worlds of Desires is transformed into phenomena that most clearly (but completely NOT TRUE!) Could be adjusted to such a concept familiar to people as «Atmospheric conditions».

So, for example, what is manifested in the Astral as pleasure, ecstasy, fun or joy, is perceived here as a light and quivering breath of a cheerful summer breeze, easily and carefully picking up Consciousness and masterly transferring it in its sparkling multicolored streams into states that, in relation to to pleasure, ecstasy and joy have much higher degrees of mental sensations. On the contrary, despondency, melancholy, nostalgia, depression, etc. here they can be perceived as separate, much more harmonious combinations of sounds, manifested in the general sound of the never-ending Music of the Spheres, reminding us either of the rustle of herbs abundantly washed with morning dew or the quivering rustle of wildflowers under bare feet.

These sensations do not have the slightest signs of negativism characteristic of our earthly pessimistic emotions, but more like what can be called «serene peace.» Even all kinds of earthly wars, battles, revolutions and ethnic conflicts are reflected here by sparkling thunderstorms, radiance of extraordinary brightness and beauty, violent glow and the predominance of minor motifs in the Music of the Spheres. But these phenomena also do not create states, at least somehow approaching a slight negativism or fear - all this simply creates in the Mental pictures that vaguely resemble the change of seasons on Earth or the variability of the weather, which, BY ITSELF, simply cannot be “bad”.

Here, in all its indescribable reality, there are sensory pictures of all the positive emotions of man and animals, manifested by them through numerous and varied attitudes towards certain atmospheric phenomena that arise on Earth. Take, for example, a storm at sea, a storm. In people caught by these powerful elements in the midst of an endless surface of water, the mental body is immediately overwhelmed with panic and an overwhelming fear of the possibility of a terrible Death. Those who watch this magnificent and grandiose spectacle from a safe place, have completely opposite Thoughts and emotions: about the power of the mysterious forces of Nature, capable, easily and playfully, “tossing” billions of tons of water, activating powerful layers of air masses and streams. It is these positive emotions, transformed by the human mind into bright and spectacular Thought-forms, that are deposited on the subtle Matter of this level of the Mental.

The same applies to positive experiences in the minds of a person or animal, warm and joyful in their sunny iridescent tints of “mushroom” rain; the first virgin snow falling in huge white flakes on the ground covered with rotten foliage; spring thunderstorms, abundantly moisturizing clean moisture green sprouts barely breaking out of the ground, etc.

A characteristic feature of this mental Sphere is also the unlimited possibility of active expression by the Consciousness of his belief, when the believer not only adores and worships his Deity, but also clearly realizes himself to be working for Him on Earth. All the great plans and intentions unfulfilled by man on Earth are fulfilled here. The life and activity of the Soul in this Sphere is much more majestic, more varied and more complex than on the lower levels of the Mental.

Here you will meet those noble and sincere Souls who unselfishly, faithfully and faithfully served all mankind during their Life on Earth, manifesting their Love for God not in blind worship and continuous all-night vigils, but in hard creative work for the good of people. In this Sphere, completely immersing themselves in the field of the Knowledge they know on Earth, they receive a well-deserved reward for their noble and selfless activities, expanding their knowledge and intensively absorbing Divine Wisdom, which will make their next incarnation even more fruitful and useful for humanity.

Here, Consciousness develops with its own eyes all kinds of mental programs and prepares for the implementation on Earth extensive plans for universal well-being, which it would like to implement during its next incarnation, and also mentally considers various promising possibilities for introducing certain Ideas in its future activities. These intellectually developed Consciousnesses are no longer so often embodied on the Physical Plane, and if they appear on Earth several centuries after their last incarnation, then they appear before people as great philanthropists, with an innate and fixed ability for disinterested Love and with the gift to bring anything started they are a creative matter, to the intended end. Usually, the scale of their mental creativity is very extensive, and the specific results of their activity, in one way or another, actively influence the spiritual development of hundreds of thousands and even many millions of human Consciousnesses.

Fourth sphere (central)

The fourth subdivision of the Area of Concrete Thought (the fourth subplane of the Mental) - the Layer of prototypical Forces - is perhaps the most important and central layer of all five mental Worlds actively involved for an earthly person at this segment of his Evolution. “Below” it are the three lower Layers of the Mental, the Astral and the Physical Plane, and “above” are the three Higher Layers of the World of Thought, the World of the Life Spirit and the World of the Divine Spirit.

This is that “focal point” where the Divine Spirit finds its practical reflection in the mirror of mental Matter. It is inhabited by mental Prototypical Forces - Essences, directing and controlling the activities of all countless Consciousnesses of Prototypes, operating and manifesting themselves in all types of realities vibrational related to the Area of Concrete Thought. It is from this “architectural” Layer of Consciousness of Prototypes (Builders of Thought Forms) that formatively influences the circulation of mental Matter, penetrating with its qualitative levels various Planes of the Earth’s Space.

This is the most diverse and most dynamic of all the Spheres of the Mental, since here the most gifted Consciousnesses from the Collective Human Mind are gaining spiritual strength and Wisdom: geniuses of music and painting, literature and architecture, science and technology, great thinkers and philosophers. Here they develop their creative powers in the field of improving forms, colors and harmony, creating for themselves guides with higher abilities and opportunities for their purposeful use in one or another form of art or Knowledge, in which they can realize themselves together with the rest of the Consciousnesses of the embodied aggregate personality in the time of his next incarnation on Earth.

REALITIES OF THE LEVELS OF ASTRAL THOUGHT

Third Heaven

Recycling and implementing in the Mental after disincarnation (Death) all materials worked through during the incarnation and now fully opening to his understanding, the Consciousness transfers into its Permanent Mental Atom everything that was the most valuable, significant and spiritual in his earthly Life, analyzing and systematizing all the incarnational experience accumulated by him. Sluggish or low-quality mental activity, which was conducted by a man with earthly life, can give only a very weak and narrowly limited by the spiritual content of the momentum to the afterlife of his consciousness in the mental, and the complete lack of highly spiritual aspirations may even reduce the stay such undeveloped yet Consciousness in To the Fiery World until a brief moment, during which the main karmic guidelines will be laid for those more or less developed Consciousnesses, which will make up the energy-informational matrix for the Causal body of the future person embodied on Earth.

We call it “causal” because it is in its energy structures that all reincarnation accumulations that make up the initial energy-informational base of qualities, and hence the future earthly Destiny of a person, are forever stored. Most of the Consciousnesses that go through the cycle of human evolution (humanoid branch) have so far such an undeveloped Causal (causal) body that in their disembodied state they rise into the Spheres of the Fiery World only for a very short period before the beginning of their next descent into physical Matter.

The duration of the posthumous period, conducted by Consciousness in one of the four lower Mental Spheres, is proportional to the number of Thoughts of the former embodied personality, which qualitatively correlate with her mental experiences, motivationally associated with the interests of the lower, that is, the personal «I»: with its material interests, earthly hopes, family relationships and affections of the heart, everyday anxieties, painful pride and ambition.

Only after the end of all this activity in the various Spheres of the Area of Concrete Thought, when the creative process of Consciousness for its deep assimilation of all the concrete-mental fruits of the past incarnation ends, and the socio-historical situation on the Physical Plane of the Earth is so strongly changed that it can provide this Consciousness with the necessary a favorable environment for his next step on the path of his improvement; when, diligently working on the qualitative elaboration of the subtle bodies of other Soul-aspects, Consciousness also finishes the final “fine-tuning” of its own future bodies of manifestation for a more complete self-expression on the Physical Plane; when all the received materials, which make up the elements of the Mind of the Aspect Soul, are transmuted into the Trinity of its Main Forces of Life, we repeat: only after the completion of all these evolutionary processes does the final liberation of the Aspect Soul from its last mental shell and its return to the highest quality Mental Plane take place - in reality, the so-called. «Areas of Abstract Thought», defined in Christianity as the «Third Heaven».

The second qualitative group of mental Worlds is the highest. It corresponds to the concept of the so-called. “Pure Reason” and is better known in esoteric literature as “The Fiery World”. Here also the Manas of a highly developed embodied personality appears periodically during her sleep. The vibrations of the realities of this, the highest for our solar system, the World, can be very approximately correlated with the vibrations that in Life on Earth are perceived by a person as dictates of his Conscience and illumination of intuition, as sincere impulses of spiritualized altruistic thoughts and an overall striving for Beauty and Harmony, as inside yourself and outside.

Here, cleared of all earthly Thought-forms, Consciousness is finally freed from the last of its temporary envelopes - the mental body - and begins an individually-creative existence, the degree and intensity of which completely depends on the completeness of self-awareness and knowledge (the level of consolidated and assimilated Knowledge), which by this time it managed to achieve in its Evolution. The duration of the stay of Consciousness in these Higher Spheres is predetermined by the degree of mental development and the qualitative content of the earthly creative activity of Manas.

Some of the readers may think that if we characterize the Mental as the World of Sound, then this means that there is no color in it. This is absolutely not the case, because in the Mental, the sound itself is the source and “creator” of that vast color range, which makes up the entire variety of mental realities. That is why we say that the Mental is, first, the World of Sound, since it is this sound that builds all forms not only in itself, but also in the Astral and in our Physical World.

There is a direct and organic connection between the vibrations of color and sound: when a certain note sounds, a certain color is generated simultaneously with it. Combinations of various sounds give a unique play of color, which can be both pleasant, harmonious, and terribly disgusting, destructive for harmonious Consciousnesses, which can be observed everywhere in the lower layers of the Astral and in the realities of the Antiworld.

So a musician can hear certain tones in various natural phenomena: in the light rustle of the wind and in the noise of the surf, in the raging roar of ocean waves and in the violent rolling of thunder, in the bird’s polyphony of the forest, in the rustle of field grasses and leaves ... All this variety tones are combined into one whole - the sound of the Physical Plane of the Earth.

Each of the subtle realities also has its own characteristic note, which is emitted by the generalized vibrations of this spiritual community.

There is nothing transitory in the sounds of harmonious Worlds, and even if some kind of polyphonic “singing” is guessed in them, then it, of course, consists without any words of choirs and any kind of choral voices. The sounds of the Mental, endless in the variety of shades and the finest harmony, are intertwined into repetitive, but at the same time smoothly merging into one another melodic combinations, to which the entire Being of the inhabitant of this reality immediately responds and resonates.

During my mental exits from the physical and astral shells, I constantly noted for myself that as such the Source from which this “Music of the Spheres” originates simply does not exist: it always exists - in the surrounding Space, around me, in me, yes and I myself am a part of it, while it is all of me ... This Music is that unknowable and elusive purity of Truth, about which everyone striving for it can only guess; it is like a radiant Aura of God, containing all of you together with His Creation in Himself. This is an intoxicating feast of the Soul, the pitiful crumbs from which, falling to us here on Earth, give millions of spiritually aspiring people Hope for the Existence of God, the Whole.

Unaccountable altruistic feelings, inexplicable spiritual aspirations, a sudden pleasant nostalgia, a feeling of auspiciousness of Destiny, so characteristic of the Consciousnesses embodied on Earth, when you admire the orange sunset of the golden sun on the yellowish shore of a blue lake or meet a pink sunrise, paddling with bare feet on the oncoming waves turquoise sea; when, frozen with all your Heart and not breathing, you stand among the tall swaying pines in the silent forest; when an accidentally heard melody or just a familiar song suddenly raises from memory the happy memories of a forgotten childhood - all this can come true again with incredible completeness and accuracy in the Mental and be embodied in its reality, vividly reflected in the living emanations of Thought and transmitted to Consciousness through these sounds.

Enjoying all this and feeling completely safe, while being my Consciousness at these levels, at the same time I never cease to clearly realize that I am not alone here, that somewhere next to me, in indissoluble and all-embracing Unity with ALL, there are many other Consciousnesses - nameless and not perceived by me as any concrete forms, but indissolubly connected with me by a single Great Cosmic Existence. I cannot STILL reunite with them only because I still continue to actively exist in a dense body, but an acute and warm feeling that ALL OF THEY are me too and that there is no difference between me and them, every time permeates all my Consciousness and makes every “cell” of my entire spiritual Being overflow with the Joy of Unity. Next to them, every time I feel an extraordinary grace and delight, as if warm waves of Light are running between us, filling all Consciousness with such an inexpressible fullness of Love that all its earthly manifestations, experienced before, seem to me now just wretched and weak reflections of true experiences available in Mental.

Here, the elemental essence of Manas is brought by abstract Thought not into certain ethereal-astral forms, but into a certain enchanting state of luminescence and sparkling, into dynamic and harmonious streams of color, into the lightning-fast movements of Living Fire, while not yet binding itself to certain limitations of any of the higher Thought-forms ... After some adaptation period, preceding the final awakening, Consciousness gradually realizes itself as being in the World, which it could most reliably call its spiritual homeland. Here it dwells in the intervals between reincarnation cycles, assimilating the fruits of each of its last earthly incarnations and mentally preparing such conditions that would most contribute to its next step on the path of individual Evolution.

This is a “place”, or rather, a qualitative state of complete satisfaction in everything, which gives an opportunity for the development of the most refined of human emotions. This, although very roughly, is similar to the state when you seem to soar quietly in the middle of an endless clear sky in warm and softly enveloping clouds, not realizing either the top or the bottom, and where there is not a single separate fragment that could be attributed to form. A pleasant and comfortable feeling of spiritual warmth completely surrounds and permeates Consciousness, calmly absorbing all the harmonious Perfection of the surrounding Light.

The cloud in which you soar is alternately flooded with beams of Light of all colors, constantly changing its intensity, direction and shades. Each of these lightest rays, when deeply immersed in it, permeates all Consciousness with its pacifying beauty.

Around - bluish-lime, pink-lilac, golden-blue and sparkling violet rays of Living Light or something else that is full of Life and meaning. Slowly and rhythmically changing, against the background of the playing Rays, other light streams softly shimmer, including all the colors of the rainbow, but each one emits only its own shade of peaceful and serene happiness.

The feeling is as if you are inside Something infinite and inexpressibly beautiful, being a part of which you change and gain external Harmony.

You quietly soar in it and sweetly absorb it into yourself, naturally responding to the endless play of blue, green, lilac and pink-violet tones. Everything here is familiar and close to the Heart, because this is THAT where each of us should be. This is our Spiritual Homeland; we are a part of her, and she is a part of ourselves.

The vibrations that create thought forms from the mental Matter in this high-quality Sphere give rise to unusually beautiful and graceful information flows, as well as ever changing color, beautiful energy waves of all kinds of iridescent shades, reminiscent of the rainbow play of light on a mother-of-pearl surface, unimaginably bright and charming in beauty which, now very smoothly, now unexpectedly rapidly, sweep through all the higher realities of the Mental and in the Realm of Concrete Thought are embodied in an infinite number of different Thought Forms.

Each of these waves is a grandiose cosmic fireworks of Consciousnesses, gracefully flowing, shining and pouring out on each other fiery streams of delicate flowers of absolutely unearthly beauty. Words are powerless to describe and convey even a thousandth part of that grace, radiance and harmonious feelings manifested in endless combinations of the emanations of this subtle Matter, imbued with Endless Life and Eternal Motion.

Here, at its first awakening, slowly and easily moving in the emanations of Thoughts of Love, Beauty and Harmony, Consciousness enjoys the subtle sound of the vibrations of the Music of these high celestial Spheres, even the distant echoes of which it simply could not hear amid the annoying discordance of noises and sounds constantly imposed on man with earthly fussy Life. This Music always sounds on all Planes, it has no beginning, it is eternal, and any Consciousness, free from material vanity, harmoniously resonates with it in time.

This is something unimaginably purer, larger and more global, even from the very best that we hear here on Earth. These magical sounds easily reflect and express themselves all the Beauty and Perfection of any Consciousness that has finally realized itself in Creation - and the Majestic Cosmic Harmony, and gentle melodic transitions, and a multi-tonal, polyphonic counterpoint, and aching overtones that come to life right in front of you. , capable of evoking and resurrecting in Consciousness the most profound and lofty experiences.

These subtle sounds, filling the entire Mental World and complemented by an indescribably colorful play of Light, are, as it were, an instrument with the help of which any Consciousness dwelling in them can be included in a single creative process, contributing to this, amazingly beautiful Symphony and its harmonious contribution. And if even one dissonant stream “accidentally” wedged into this celestial Harmony, it would inevitably entail the annihilation of many and many levels of mental Matter, and hence the destruction of whole Worlds. It is the Harmony of these perfect sound combinations that gradually and imperceptibly builds into the Trinity of the Main Forces of Life of each of the Consciousnesses located there the entire quintessence of the Mind of his future mental body, on which the entire process of individual evolutionary growth depends.

Consciousnesses living in the vibrations of these high mental Spheres do not at all need to deliberately reveal and somehow demonstrate to anyone their inner sensations and feelings, which are visible to everyone and are manifested depending on the state of their own activity: if you are happy, you are happy, if you are overwhelmed with Love, you simply love and do not adjust to anyone in the manifestation of your feelings.

Each of the inner states arbitrarily emanates from your entire Being: everything that you feel or desire, you immediately give and instantly receive, completely automatically, without any deliberate effort. This does not happen because you need something or you are needed for something. The concept of «strive» here is completely inappropriate and devoid of any meaning, because the means for the realization of desire is the power of desire itself. Here, any interchange of energy occurs naturally and without stress on either side.

Here, the idea of the difference between the sexes is completely absent, since you yourself are, as a part of the Whole, both a man and a woman, both positive and negative at the same time. All types of Love: men for a woman, mother for a child, brother for a sister, etc., merging, roll over you, penetrate inside and embrace all of you, leaving nothing else.

Inside all This, but not as a part of it, one feels the existence of the Source of all these experiences, the Source of yourself, the Source of that Infinity, which is impossible to comprehend or imagine. Here it is so easy to believe in God, in the Creator of Everything that has ever been and will ever be. Here Consciousness really feels itself as one of the co-authors of the countless Worlds of His Creation. Here you are happy already from the fact that you clearly realize that you are at Home, in Your Place, where you should be.

This area is the sphere of activity of many different Beings, whose lower bodies are composed of the finest radiant Matter and of the luminous elemental essence of the Highest mental Sphere. In Sanskrit They are called Devas («shining»), and the Jewish, Christian and Mohammedan religions call Them Archangels and Angels.

These, in reality, brightly shining and fiery-luminous Essences direct the natural creative processes of the numerous Forces of Nature to the levels of the Second and Third Elemental Kingdoms, providing trillions of lower Consciousnesses, which we call the elementals of Ether, Earth, Air, Water and Fire, with the necessary energy and information and a building material for the energy supply of the concrete Thoughts of people and the Thought-forms of their innumerable desires.

It is generally useless to talk about Their number, because They are the host of Beings who continuously and creatively process the elemental substance, constantly improving its qualities. This work looks something like this: each of These Consciousnesses selects manifestations of the emanation of Matter of one quality or another for the formation of its own body, and when the Matter of a given quality is fully worked out by Him, It sheds the “worn out” old shell and immediately prepares for itself a new, more sensitive and more perfect body. This goes on almost indefinitely.

They continuously create more and more new forms, helping all embodied and disembodied Consciousnesses (not only human, but also animal, plant and mineral) to build more perfect forms for their self-manifestation in various types of Energy-Matter, including physical. The less developed Consciousness is, the more it needs the guiding and organizing work of such an elemental Essence. Virtually all physical and astral forms were created by the tireless creative activity of our Solar Logos and His elemental Aids.

All of Them possess for this the most extensive knowledge, great Power and power, brightly reflected in Their external appearance: magnificently shining, continuously sparkling with countless shades of Energy calmly spreading in Them and invariably impressive to the very depths of the inexperienced human Consciousness with the power of their irresistible spiritual Power.

The three Higher subdivisions of the Mental, forming emanations of mental Matter of the highest quality for the formation of the foundations of all abstract Ideas, are inhabited by the virgin Collective Consciousnesses of the First Elemental Kingdom. They are spiritual “generators” and active “transformers” of energies of their inherent quality to the next, denser and therefore less qualitative, levels of Matter, up to gross astral.

They are the most active Helpers of the Solar Logos of our system in His Creativity, realizing all MENTAL details of His Plan of the Universe at various energy-vibrational levels of His Reality, bringing them from design to completion and providing countless streams of Consciousness of self-developing Life with the material necessary for dressing them mentally - astral-physical forms of all types of reality.

These are the Guides and Creators from the Higher Planes, Who observe each evolving embodied Monad, guard and guard the shells of a person from unauthorized introduction into them of foreign energetic beings of the Subtle World. Saturating the Space of the Earth with high-quality Thought Forms, They thus actively help humanity in the development of its positive spiritual orientation.

On the third level of this Sphere are the “Sahasrara Prototypes” of the Teachers of earthly humanity and the Initiates. It is from this World of the highest mental Forces that the Spiritual Teachers of humanity carry out their beneficial creative activity, producing on the lower vibrational levels abundant streams of noble Ideas, inspired Thoughts, prayer aspirations, which are transformed in the lower layers of the Astral into manifestations of spiritual and intellectual help to people.

Thought-images and Thought-ideas that are formed here are radiated simultaneously in all directions of Space-Time, therefore, the most developed and cleared of coarse astral energies embodied Consciousnesses can quite easily perceive the emanations of these blessed and spiritualizing influences, creatively realizing them in the form of wonderful discoveries, masterpieces of world art, music, poetry and philosophical Thoughts.

The hierarchy of Light Forces of cosmic civilizations that oversee the development of human Consciousnesses in physical reality implies the division of the COMPLEX CONSCIOUSNESS of the Teachers, depending on the quality of their individual evolutionary development, the importance and globality of their functions, into two conditionally potential levels.

People incarnated in three-dimensional reality are now actively supervised by about three hundred (as of December 2000 - 289) Teachers of the First Information Level, Who periodically, on their own initiative, incarnate into physical human bodies in order to open more and more to people from the Name of the Consciousness of the Planetary Logos cells of the Spiritual Treasury of Knowledge, to warn earthlings from inevitably impending disasters, cataclysms, catastrophes, etc., as well as in the process of direct contact and communication with people to open their eyes to the Divine Wisdom and Truth lying at their feet and in deep ignorance of the trampled them ...

The Essence of each of Them embodied on Earth (the Aggregate Consciousness of Their chakram personalities) is formed by the energy-informational basis of seven, qualitatively fully formed, individual conscious cells. Naturally, in addition to these seven, the most active Consciousnesses, each, embodied on Earth, the Essence of the Teacher in the highest Planes is represented by five more chakram Superconsciousnesses, completing the twelve - quality energy-informational structure of the Cosmic Man.

Simply put, seven highly developed human Consciousnesses, which have reached a harmonious combination with each other and voluntarily united by one high Idea, can represent in physical reality ONE (!) COMPLETE PERSONALITY of the Teacher of the First Category, Whom, in carrying out his spiritual-evolutionary mission, the Leaders are sure to help. Each of these seven Consciousnesses can creatively actively implement its part of the overall mission through the chakram centers of a person connecting him with various qualitative and informational levels of the Astral and Mental.

Remember: not a single global highly spiritual Idea, not a single high-quality Knowledge is introduced or embodied on Earth by ordinary people who are too burdened by individual Karma. Each of the highly spiritual Missions is realized by a specially created and carefully selected "team", headed by the JOINT CONSCIOUSNESS of one of the Teachers of the First Level.

Each chakram of such a Teacher is represented in a type of reality corresponding to it in terms of qualities by ONLY ONE highly developed Consciousness, and not a family, as is the case with ordinary people. All these disembodied Cognitions, in their creativity and in the fulfillment of the spiritual mission assigned to them, show unconditional integrity and cohesion, not being distracted by the elaboration of the qualities ALREADY developed by them, but focusing only on actively helping the leading Consciousness to successfully fulfill the task of their joint incarnation.

One Teacher of the First Order, being in a disembodied state, can spiritually supervise and powerfully stimulate about ten million embodied people with his energies. Most of humanity (80-90 percent) is «served» by them, and the rest of the people (incarnating Star-Born Consciousnesses) perform the role of pioneers, voluntarily taking on the most severe karmic blows, being «infected» by the most dangerous bacilli of Evil, so that in the tireless internal struggle and all kinds of trials that they overcome during several earthly incarnations, to develop in their Consciousnesses a stable immunity against some specific forms of Evil and then, by careful selection of incarnational shell-bodies, to transmit this spiritual vaccine through characteristic combinations of genes, to their future descendants.

Such is the specificity of the earthly Path of Cognition that all the highest qualities of Good can be cognized and worked through only through a deep Understanding of the lowest qualities that people are used to characterizing as «Evil». Therefore, the Spiritual Evolution on our planet is inevitably and organically intertwined with suffering ... After the passage of the Planetary Logos of the Earth through the Galactic Initiation in the forthcoming Act of Transformation, this situation will radically change.

Scientists have long noticed that after fierce and global wars that plunge huge masses of embodied Consciousnesses into a bloody cauldron of incredible and most terrible sufferings and karmic trials, the birth rate of male children is greatly increasing. Even those women who, for many physiological reasons, were considered infertile, give birth to boys.

This is due to the fact that, due to the process of mass disincarnation of Consciousnesses, the optimal balance between reincarnation cells filled and free from Consciousnesses is disturbed, since a huge number of human Consciousnesses, disembodied as a result of forced Death, returns to their spiritual Homes.

Then the Teachers of the First Order put into action the mechanism of a freer incarnation and expand to a certain level of reincarnation cells, which are in anabiotic-passive state, their usual range of vibrations for receiving more signals from the Earth. The consciousnesses in these reincarnation cells are quickly activated and begin to «push» their astral contents into the astrosomes of a particular embodied personality, thus ensuring the fertilization of a female egg, even in cases when the spectrum of the energy flash generated at the moment of orgasm during intercourse is not very precisely coincides with the energy-quality parameters of the Consciousness «splashed out» from the cell.

On the eve of global military conflicts, more boys are born because, among other things, which will be discussed elsewhere, in the male line, the qualities that were manifested in the fathers who died in the war and who managed to experience a lot of grief, pain and suffering in a concentrated form. It is the qualities acquired and consolidated by a person in such stressful situations, starting from the offspring of the first generation, that will be able to give that favorable genephone, which can quickly contribute to a significant increase in the «field» of spirituality and expansion of self-awareness.

Following up the ladder of the spiritual mental Hierarchy, let's say that three Teachers of the First Order (that is, the energy-informational content of twenty-one highly developed human Consciousnesses) form the Aggregate Consciousness of an even more highly organized and powerful Essence - the Teacher of the Second Order, which is no longer limited in its activity only by the Inner The Mental Sphere of the Earth, but also has direct access to intergalactic information banks and external sources of Higher Energies. In total, 27 such Teachers actively create and exist in the Space of the Seven Globes of our planet.

All Teachers of the Second Order are directly connected with the cosmic civilizations, which originally created and now supervise the evolutionary development of the present earthly humanity. They are also the main spiritual elements and driving forces of the informational-Spiritual system of Shambhala. It is They who endow specific and selected people with secret knowledge and tremendous energetic capabilities to carry out special and important missions of a universal human scale.

In addition to the Teachers of the First Level, among the highly intelligent Beings of the Fiery World there are also so-called. "Leading". We have already written that all people, according to the level of their evolutionary development, are conditionally divided into two categories: people - «signs» and people - «cliches». A «sign» is a person whose psychic centers are activated by individual disembodied Consciousnesses who have a rich experience of highly productive reincarnation cycles. That is, the Soul-aspect of such a person has accumulated in its impulse ring ALREADY a very significant number of Existing (chakram Consciousnesses) possessing various information of increased quality .

The «stamp», on the contrary, is a person whose individual chakram Consciousnesses still have a very long and difficult path of self-knowledge and self-realization in their earthly Evolution, divided into many reincarnation cycles. The creative principle of such a person, due to the lack of high-quality experience in his Soul, is still very small.

«Signs» are ascending and descending. The second are such embodied Consciousnesses, which, having already reached a sufficiently high level of their individual development, still cannot, due to some qualitative disharmony, pass into the perfect Worlds of the highest types of reality. A posthumous disharmonious state can also arise due to the fact that this Consciousness, too intensively turning in each of its incarnations to work through a highly spiritual experience, to the rapid development of one of the aspects in itself, nevertheless, failed to deeply cognize and accumulate sufficient experience of existence in the range of manifestation of coarse energy qualities.

Such Consciousnesses, despite the strongly developed in them separately cordiality (humanism, altruism, spirituality, harmony, beauty, luminosity, etc.) or intellect (rationalism, mind, logic, expediency, etc.), is not can be considered complete and viable as long as this gap in self-knowledge is not filled by individual experience. That is why very intelligent, sincere, warm-hearted and talented people in their incarnations are placed in completely wild conditions that do not allow them to realize themselves in their favorite business, but at the same time give them excellent opportunities to work out those aspects of their qualities that were once ignored by them or missed.

Looking through the past incarnations of hundreds of people, I very often came across such phenomena when, for example, in the past, the greatest musician and composer realized himself through his muladhara and svadhisthana personalities, living the depraved life of a public woman; or when a former monk and philosopher, having trampled this whole vain world and despised everything material, in the next incarnation is forced to incarnate as a Japanese geisha, sophisticated in love, in order to thus make up for his sexual experience. Because exactly the lack of qualities acquired through deep knowledge of the sexual sides of earthly Life did not give his Soul-aspect the opportunity to bring itself after disembodiment into harmonious balance, so necessary for existence in the Higher Worlds.

Each of the Leaders of the Fiery World, depending on the direction of his creativity in this Cycle, independently chooses for his «tutelage» 10-12 embodied people - «signs» or 30-40 people - «stamps». After physical disincarnation, the Leaders, through their many purified assistants at different levels of reality, help their wards in their posthumous astral existence, and then, during the stay of these Consciousnesses in the Mental, teach them to build new shell-bodies of the required quality for their next incarnation.

All mental Leaders are busy doing the following tasks:

- meeting of highly developed Consciousnesses after their disincarnation, uncompletion of all Existing (chakram personalities) of the former earthly personality according to the quality of the vibrations worked out by them and accompanying these Consciousnesses through all the Astral Plans to their individual reincarnation cells in order to uninterrupted replenishment of the information layer of the Earth;

- control over the execution of the Law of Retribution, which clearly stipulates the order and quality of the distribution of Consciousnesses in the spiritual astral-mental communities in accordance with the level of information they have accumulated and the degree of individual spiritual development;

- selection, sorting and regrouping of individual reincarnation cells according to qualitative characteristics in order to combine them into new variations for the manifestation and self-realization of future chakram incarnations;

- all kinds of manipulations with Consciousnesses, which are in a passive suspended state before their next incarnation, and ensuring the safety of their reincarnation cells;

- spiritual supervision and provision of information assistance to the embodied Aggregate Consciousnesses of people in the fulfillment of the spiritual missions they have accepted throughout the entire period of their incarnation;

- work with the subtle chakram personalities of a spiritually developing person in order to activate them and reveal extrasensory abilities for healing or messianic purposes.

You can read in more detail about the Planetary Hierarchy of the Fiery World, about its functions and tasks at this stage of the development of humanity on Earth in the “Diary of Transmutation”.

Cities of Light

In the Solar System there is a special “Place” for highly developed Star-Born Consciousnesses, whose spiritual Energy has a higher vibration frequency than the Energy emitted by the Sun itself (we have already mentioned that Budhic Matter, which is only the external (of the twelve!) Bodies of manifestation of our Souls-analogues, does not belong to the Solar system, but is a manifestation of the Cosmic Intelligence of a higher level than our Solar Logos). But this is not some kind of separate planet - this “Place” has no material boundaries and no definite form. Its geometry spreads along an irregular ellipse - the orbit of the Quignotta - and in two places, through two complementary realities, very closely intersects with the Thin Plan of the Earth.

These points of intersection represent the most possible areas in the Earth's Space-Time for the future inhabitants of the Cities of Light to populate them (but so far the most populated places are located just above the points of intersection of the orbits of the Second Globe of the Earth and Quinhotta and are closer to the orbit of the Second Globe of Venus). Here, after the final earthly disincarnation (Death), NOW the people who, during many of their earthly incarnations, have managed to fully «develop» a high-quality Light Body, receive their dwelling places.

Starting from the vibrations of the innermost layer of the border of the Inner Astral Sphere and including the upper layers of the Outer Crown of the Mental, there is the Space of the Mental Plane, occupied by numerous realities of the disembodied human civilization, conditionally divided into two large “territorial” belts: Hellenic and Allanktonic.

Gells and Anas (Daniil Andreev called these Cosmic Beings in one word - «daimons» - these are inexpressibly beautiful and very pleasant in communication «winged» Essences, outwardly in many ways similar to the beautiful and kind angels depicted on Christian icons, but which, in contrast from the latter, they are subdivided into male and female individuals. They are completely freed from the need to stay in the low-astral Worlds of Retribution, although they also have a single-layer Sphere, qualitatively connected with the angelic reality located on the upper sub-planes of the Astral.

Staying in it can rather be compared with improving health in a sanatorium or dispensary, than with what we associate with the word «Purgatory». Basically, this layer is intended for them to increase the Pure Quality of Love-Wisdom in the representatives of one few of their races - the Loss, who are somewhat lagging behind in their spiritual development from the bulk of these Essences and therefore require some more care and concern from more developed brothers.

The Gells and Anas have long since created a highly spiritual and, at the same time, «technically» very developed civilization, which is one of the members of the «Light Ring» Commonwealth and is directly related to the origin and development of our (current) humanity on Earth. They know absolutely everything about us and very much help earthly humanity in its spiritual development, sending an infinite variety of positive Thought-images to the Mental Plan of the Earth, which are captured by spiritually-minded people and contribute to their spiritual self-improvement.

Relations with the civilizations of the «Dark Ring», which develop in the lower frequency ranges of energy, despite numerous disagreements regarding the means and methods of the evolution of Mind, are very friendly and, understanding the role and necessity of the opposite beginning for the processes of Evolution, they try to maintain business partnerships with them ... Their spiritual activity with the Antiworld is expressed primarily in voluntary missionary and educational incarnations to the low-quality levels of the Astral. In this, they are significantly helped - as skillful diplomats and subtle connoisseurs of human Souls - are also provided by the most developed immigrants from our humanity, who have reached the required spiritual level of development and have completely freed themselves from the Karma of earthly low-astral realities.

These Beings, in whose existence the Creative impulse plays a much greater role than for us, have very strongly developed various areas of space science and all kinds of art, which are also vividly and inimitably expressed in all the splendor of the surrounding architecture and amazing nature, striking in its completeness and perfection even the most fantastic imagination of every human Consciousness that gets there.

It was only while staying here during my research and cognitive journeys in the mental body that I began to clearly understand why everything that we used to call «the beauties of the Earth» is in fact nothing more than a pathetic attempt to reflect the unlimited possibilities of the Divine Plan in conditions, as close as possible to hellish.

By the way, the Anas and Gells, due to the peculiarities of their spatial continuum, do not have their own flying vehicles capable of penetrating the Physical Plane of the Earth and performing the necessary research and manipulations with dense Matter. For these purposes, they «rent» technical means of transportation from civilizations belonging to the «Dark Ring» or from independent civilizations loyal to humanity, one of which has long settled in the depths of our World Ocean.

The population of realities that are qualitatively related to the allanktonic vibrational belt, that is, existing in the vibrations of the Area of Concrete Thought, but at the same time, have not yet completely got rid of their high-quality astral shells, is divided into many highly spiritual communities that call themselves differently: langdinny («Langda»), atmas («Atmiya»), Oylangpians («Oylangpiyya»), tagly («Tagl»), eissas («Eissa») and many other high-vibration Cosmic Zones, about the highest culture and unearthly life of each of which I could write entire volumes of books.

This, if at all it is possible to put it this way in relation to these Consciousnesses that have reached the summit of human Evolution, is the Highest Humanity of our planet, representing the highest quality levels of the Collective Consciousness, living in three- and four-dimensional spatial continua with a much larger number of time coordinates than we have. The inhabitants of all these Worlds have already gone through an evolutionary path, somewhat similar, and in some ways absolutely not similar to the path of development of OUR humanity, but accomplished, if one can say so, many «hundreds of millennia» earlier and more successfully, than we are doing now.

By the way, in their period, the Highest Hierarchs there, just like us two thousand years ago, organized the spiritually saving mission of Christ, which, unlike the Physical Plan of the Earth, was fully fulfilled and brought a great evolutionary effect for their humanity which in their present existence was expressed in the rapid achievement of very high levels of spiritual and “technical” development.

For us, accustomed to three-dimensional crampedness and the extreme imperfection of our physical reality, it is very difficult, or rather, it is simply impossible even to imagine this “magical” Space, which, however, has its own magnificent, unearthly flora, and even its own fauna, which have incomprehensible for us conscientiousness and rationality.

This amazing and truly enchanted World of Beauty, Creative Joy and Harmony did not open up to my Consciousness immediately, but only as my COMPLETE personal Consciousness gradually improved itself and rose spiritually, approaching in quality to the vibrations of its Matter. Prior to that, in numerous astrovals, I had to walk along the extremely difficult and dangerous roads of demonic Worlds and Spheres, teeming and seething with monstrous materialized emanations of evil feelings and black Thoughts. Believe me, every night of conscious and purposeful research work in the destructive energies of these Hellish Spheres, aggravated by the need for a thorough description of everything I have experienced and seen, takes away from me not only a huge amount of Energy, but also whole years of Life.

But, by virtue of the spiritual mission I had undertaken, I had to experience all this on myself and go not only through all nine vibration-vampiric Spheres of Hell, but also through all levels of Purgatory, because in the same sequence each enlightened Soul of the deceased rises from the Physical Plane into the Subtle Worlds, where all the visions and pictures characteristic of each of these Spheres gradually unfold before her astral gaze.

I was able to get into the vibration of the Highest mental realities only in the third year of my active practice of astrobatism, and the very first Beings with whom I had the opportunity to meet and communicate THERE were the Langdins living in the reality that they themselves call «Langda». This name is as natural for them as it is for us - «Earth», about which they know a lot, but refuse to communicate in detail on this topic, because this information is associated with very low vibrations, as for example, for many of us talking about hell may not be very pleasant.

This atmospheric civilization was formed only two or three hundred thousand years ago (naturally, in our understanding!) By the best representatives of humanity in Atlantis, and at present it is still a small vanguard of the future of humanity. They are concentrated in the Outer energy-information layers of the Mental Sphere, which permeate the innermost layer of the Astral Sphere of the Earth and have several “transition points” (hyperspace high-frequency channels) connecting separate Spheres of reality of this civilization with the planet Quignotta, which does not belong to our solar system and is one from the links of the mechanism of accumulation of etheric Energy in our Universe.

Constant contacts with the Consciousness of Quignotta contribute to the rapid progress of the Langdins in all directions of Evolution and spiritual development. Before getting here after disincarnation (Death), highly developed human Consciousnesses are long and thoroughly «ground» in the hard millstones of physical incarnations, each time «sifting» after Death through a smaller and higher quality astral «sieve», many times «melting» into reincarnation cauldron and «overflowing» from one physical shell to another ... The right to «residence» in this reality is acquired at the cost of many hundreds of quality lived earthly Lives.

The people of Langda have created a society with a truly democratic system and perfect forms of government; everything here - education, production, science, social and family relations - is at the highest spiritual level. A huge staff of psychologists, cosmobiologists, bioengineers-cyberneticists and geneticists are engaged in research of practically all realities of the Mental and Astral Spheres of the inner Globes of the Earth, including ours.

By the way, one of my readers recently called me on the phone and asked for an opinion on the sensational book «Urantia». So, from his words, I understood that many people, reading such books, forget that they are not talking about the structure of a UNIFIED multi-multidimensional Universe, but as far as the authors can, only a certain part of ITS multi-level vibrational range, which is available for study and cognition by Consciousnesses of this specific reality.

Take our physical world, for example. When we raise our heads and look at the starry sky, we see only an infinite number of «stars», each of which, in this type of three-dimensional reality, represents very limited possibilities for the manifestation and existence of certain forms of Life and Mind. An astronomer sitting at the world's most powerful radio telescope sees little more than we do. And when each of us speaks about the Universe, he first of all means that "Universe" that is available for his awareness - only a very small part of the physical aspect of the Universe.

Why very small? Because the three-dimensional realities themselves are divided into countless types and types, differing from each other not only in dense material structure and principles of internal structure, but also in the number of TIME ordinates, which can also be countless. That is why, in parallel with us, at the same "point" of Space-Time, the Earths can freely and simultaneously coexist, without interfering with each other, a multitude of other dense material independently developing realities, which we call "parallel".

Imagine, each of them exists in its own range of "physical" vibrations of Matter-Energy and the inhabitants of each of these civilizations, looking at their "night" sky, will see in the myriads of dense energy formations only their own "universe", which is not in overall, no details! - absolutely nothing like "ours". There will be no Earth, no Mars, no Sun, no constellations familiar to us in the form in which we are used to seeing them. Speaking about this or that constellation, planet, Galaxy, our Spiritual Teachers simply adapt to the concepts familiar to us, because, otherwise, we simply would not be able to understand each other.

The same is the case with the inhabitants of numerous realities belonging to the remaining six Globe-Bodies of our Planetary Essence. Each of them, “speaking” about the structure and structure of the Universe, means first of all the “universe” to which his own reality belongs, the “universe”, which he himself HAS THE OPPORTUNITY to comprehensively study, cognize and pass through his individual awareness. That which exists beyond his limited capabilities does NOT exist for him in the same way as for billions of you all those numerous Worlds and realities “do not exist” in which I, nevertheless, can freely stay and consciously creatively exist practically at any time convenient for me.

I have not read Urantia, which is over two thousand pages long. But by the vibrations emitted by it, I KNOW that this information is provided by Consciousnesses of a high-manipure evolutionary level. What does it mean? The fact that such a Cosmic Quality as “Divine Love-Wisdom” is understood by them is not at all as highly sensitive and highly reverent as it is inherent in the most spiritually developed of us, but rather as “The Highest Purposefulness”, because their own path of evolution has not yet existed it is also connected with the need to carefully study this important Quality - Love-Wisdom.

This can not be understood either as “good” or as “bad”, because it is SUCH Path of development that they decided to choose for Cognition of themselves. Helping us to understand the structure of the One Universe, they only talk about what they themselves have a PERMISSION. Hence - that categorical definition, and that primitive hierarchy, which are in no way characteristic of the Consciousness of the buddhic and atmic vibrational level, not to mention even more developed Cosmic Entities, each of Which is capable of simultaneously actively manifesting itself in hundreds of Galaxies (by the way, you can read about this in my Contacts with Consciousnesses, which I refer to as “Wanderer” and “Humanoid Balls”).

We apologize to you, dear readers, for this forced retreat, but we would very much like your ideas about subtle realities and spiritual communities not to be reduced to a stereotypical understanding of them as something resembling our earthly countries or even continents, strictly limited in both Time and Space. Such a primitively grounded understanding is complete absurdity!

Each of the subtle realities we are describing is the whole UNIVERSE, or rather, the same part of it, like our three-dimensional reality, with all the Qualities, Principles, energetic capabilities and methods of constructing its “internal” and “external” that are unique to it. energy information structures. This means that each such reality contains entire planetary and stellar systems, entire worlds and galaxies, millions of times larger than our material universe in “size” and capabilities.

If you carefully read the information presented by us in the books “Spirit and Soul” and “Chakrams of the Soul”, then it will not be difficult for you to understand that the mental prototypes of many people of the Earth, temporarily incarnated in the shells of protein bodies, are constantly in this one, which we are describing, realities and affect the COMPREHENSIVE Consciousness of the person embodied on Earth (as well as on the person temporarily embodied in parallel gross material realities) as Vishudd-chakram Consciousnesses. Their task is to contribute in every possible way to the spiritual and intellectual growth of the rest of the disembodied chakram Consciousnesses (anahatic, manipura, svadhisthanna and muladhar), which constitute the temporary basis of the mind of the total personality of a person.

Descriptions of some of the Cities of Light

In my astrovals, I most often (and most pleasantly!) Have to visit separate realities, which, although it would be most convenient to call “Cities of Light and Love,” but which have absolutely nothing in common with the concept of “city” familiar to people. It also cannot be compared with either a country or a continent, like, say, our Africa or America. It’s just completely DIFFERENT. Being THERE, if I wanted to, I could move in the whole THAT Universe.

I will give just some of the descriptions of these «Cities», which were already briefly described by Firoxanta in her «Diary of Transmutation». They are interesting because the astro-drift was performed (with my help in group Meditation) by a whole group of seven people, who took a forty-four-day «seminar» on the Ai-Petri plateau in July-August 1999.

So, having united in a certain way the astrosomes of all the participants in the Meditation, one day I brought them to a vibrational level corresponding, according to my feelings, to the tenth-eleventh overtone of the Astral. Qualitatively, this is very close to the range of concrete-mental types of Worlds that make up the Space of the Area of Concrete Thought.

In reality, in which our astrosomes were manifested, there was a huge number of outlandish plants, clearly demonstrating the presence of remarkable intelligence and not similar to any terrestrial plant. Each of them reflected in itself all the colors of the rainbow, sparkling and shimmering within itself with the most incredible combinations of golden sparks and shades.

The pink and lilac sky above us was very bright and clear, with no sign of clouds or even a slight haze. And although the sun we were used to was nowhere to be seen, everywhere everything was flooded with a pleasant light pink Light, reflected in every object and in every plant with sparkling tints of lilac radiance.

Our entire small group found themselves in a small lilac meadow, completely covered with thin bright pink flowers, densely creeping among very small bright lilac vegetation, sparkling and shimmering from the inside with all shades of blue and purple. On all sides of us were graceful domed buildings of various designs and sizes, painted to match the changing colors of vegetation, that is, the color of these buildings also continuously changed, sparkled and shimmered with all the colors of the rainbow. On their spherical “roofs”, sparkling balls of different colors and sizes, from one meter in diameter to ten or fifteen and even more, revolved, playing with many polished faces.

Inside the buildings and outside, people walked in white clothes, slightly taller than me, the skin was pinkish-lilac, the hair color was darker shades, up to dark purple. All of them were dressed in pink or lilac clothes: on some it was in pastel colors, while on others it shimmered brightly and even shone dazzlingly. In fact, it should be noted right away that everything here, for a human perception unusual to the unearthly beauty, will seem very bright, unusually colorful and radiant.

Not at all surprised at our unexpected appearance here, among all this impressive splendor and radiance, the inhabitants of this World, who were nearby, only looked at us with undisguised interest, without even trying to approach. But now, finally, one of the group of people, dressed in overalls of bright pink tints, came out from under the dome closest to us and, unexpectedly quickly approaching us (not walking, but as if completely imperceptibly moving through the air), put his left palm to his chest and then, in turn, respectfully touched his right palm to the chest of each of us.

Having walked around the whole group in this way, he again approached me, took me a little to the side and mentally asked what we would like to see with them? I shrugged my shoulders vaguely: they say, I don't know - what you show, we will be glad, because we ended up here as if by accident (although, in fact, I understood that, according to the Law of Identity, we were attracted precisely to this type of reality the average quality of vibration of the astrosomes of all seven members of my group).

Then, in his open palm, a crystal ball, about 15 cm in diameter, materialized directly from space, and I could clearly see everything that was on their planet in it: alternately, very, very quickly replacing each other, colorful appeared and instantly disappeared inside the ball « living "pictures - huge lilac oceans, pink seas, bluish-white cities, wrapped in magnificent purple-blue forests. Despite the quick flickering, I had a sense of my real presence in each of the places shown to me!

After that, all the same began to be demonstrated in detail: the inner life of the seas, oceans, forests, the peculiarities of social life and arrangement in cities, relationships in families, giant scientific laboratories, unusual educational institutions, silent air transport ... I've learned enough to write several books!

Again, even more confused, I shrugged my shoulders in confusion. Then he himself showed us with his hand in the direction of the domes hidden among the tall vegetation and invited all of us to go with him to the nearby buildings. As it turned out soon, they were huge, flooded with shining, but at the same time very soft and pleasant light of the laboratory for the synthesis of all that the Soul desires from various spectra of Light.

We were shown in detail how this is done: the device is mentally given a task, the program is launched and right there, on a wide platform located next to a thick "pillar" of Light rising to the very top of the dome, a neat slide of outlandish pink fruits appeared, which were politely offered to us for tastings. They did not taste like anything known to us, except that the sweetish-sour aroma and the bluish-lilac freshness of some unusual perfume.

All our guys walked through the huge bright halls and gasped continuously in surprise. Then we were again treated to something very tasty and fragrant, only now these were all kinds of drinks that appeared right in front of us on a low counter, as if materializing from the air, in transparent bowls, such as small, oblong bowls. Each of us happily tried several of these cups ... Our guide also mentally asked me about something from time to time, I answered, also mentally.

It seemed that we had been THERE for many hours in a row, because we were still seated on a flat round disc, four meters in diameter, with low silver handrails around the entire area, and we rose up into the sky on it, admiring the beauties of this unusually beautiful and harmoniously developing planets. Almost half of it was occupied by huge oceans, and among the land there were many seas with a very regular rounded shape. There were practically no cities to be seen, because all of them were surprisingly accurately adjusted to the terrain and the color of the surrounding vegetation.

Nature here is very similar to the most beautiful corners of the Earth, with the only difference that it is summer here all the time, and flowers and trees do not know how to bear fruit and bloom themselves, therefore the Thoughts of the inhabitants of the Place make them fruitful and blooming. But flowers, like some of their fellows on Earth, are able to close at dusk and bloom again in the morning. By the way, our guide said that the so-called. "Twilight" occurs here only once for the entire revolution of this Globe around ANOTHER Sun, and they last about 78 times less than the duration of their "year" (I don't know how many hours it will be in Earth time).

This does not mean at all that the inhabitants of this reality are "sleeping" at this time - they never sleep at all, in our understanding! - but they simply lead less active creative activity, rest more, completely surrendering to various spiritual practices and amazing methods of accumulating Knowledge that helps them in their creativity, be it science or art.

Yes, we also saw many, somewhat similar to flamingos or cranes, lilac-blue fluffy birds, only they were larger in size and did not fly, but swam quietly in the seas. Sometimes all of a sudden, out of nowhere, on the handrails, to which we all held tightly, little birds sat down, similar to our colored parrots, but also very fluffy, with the same fluffy tails and legs, like small soft balls. Studying and looking at us with curiosity, they walked on the railings completely fearlessly for some time, and then calmly flew away.

Among the tall and unfamiliar vegetation below, below us, sometimes the colorful bodies of amazingly beautiful animals flashed, which I have nothing to compare with, because there is nothing similar in beauty and shape on Earth. Some of them gracefully and smoothly moved on land on several low limbs, while others, of those that are larger, were somewhat similar to long airships, but only long and very mobile. Although, it is possible that these could be some means of public transportation, like our trains.

Then, I don't know how, we again found ourselves in our valley, not far from the camp. Looking at my watch, I was sincerely surprised: only 30-40 seconds have passed in our earthly time, and in terms of the strength and number of impressions it seemed to me that at least one day had passed "...

And here is another, albeit very brief, description of one of the Cities of Light, which I and my group also visited during my stay on the Ai-Petri plateau.

"Again, like yesterday, a rainbow platform ducked under us and transferred it to a huge rainbow circle, on which there were already 30-40 people like us, young people in white clothes (THERE we all look much younger than in this reality - you will not give everyone by sight more than 25 years!). Contrary to my expectations, all of us were carried not to the valley, but made an excursion over the magnificent "Lilac City" - this is what I called it to myself, because the predominant color there was a delicate pinkish-lilac, starting from the sky and light clouds, ending with high the City itself was surrounded by translucent walls. The walls were 100-150m high and looked like a young amethyst: bluish-transparent, with a light re-wax inside.

We flew on our round rainbow at about 100-120 m above the surface of the earth, covered with bright lime and blue-emerald vegetation - from lush grass and thick liana trees, to very tall (up to 100 m) plants, which cannot be otherwise than giant flowers name. Among these flowers here and there peeped out the multi-colored domes of the temples, on which there were not only golden crosses, but also some other symbols completely unfamiliar to me. There were a lot of domes - hundreds, of various sizes and colors: from gold and emerald, to lilac and white. In addition to the temples below, there were also transparent, like crystal, buildings in the form of regular geometric shapes: pyramids, rhombuses, six- and dodecahedrons, balls, etc., - which shimmered with all the colors of the rainbow. By the way, a huge rainbow also continuously shone over the whole city and we sailed directly over it. I did not see people or animals, because the giant trees and flower giants blocked all visibility on the ground. There was no sun and lilac light shone from everything: the sky, the earth, the trees, the rainbow ...

The size of the city was staggering: from the height of our flight, we could not even see its borders. I know about the presence of the wall only because we flew over it at the very beginning of the excursion. Outside the walls were meadows and dense thickets of forest, consisting of giant white and lilac flowers...»

Higher causal realities of the Second and Third Globes of the Earth

In the Highest realities of the subtle Globes of the Earth, vibrationally separated from the multitude of three-dimensional Worlds by a specific mirror Sphere, which we call "Emptiness", the true dramas of the cosmic and individual Evolution of Consciousnesses are played out. It is here that the evolutionary formation of not only the Consciousness of the humanoid branch of development takes place, but also of many other evolutionary branches of the development of Mind, which purposefully manifest themselves in various realities of our Galaxy to assimilate new qualities and gain experience.

In the middle part of this Sphere, energy-informationally represented in the form of an infinitely ramified network of cosmic Causes and Effects, each disembodied Consciousness, which has not yet managed to fully realize itself in the cosmic Evolution of this terrestrial type, has its own reincarnation cell, from the spherical shell of which countless energetic the strands of earthly Karma are stretched to other similar cells.

These «threads» that securely hold each cell in the so-called. “Emptiness” and tightly entangling it with a single ligature of karmic Causes and Effects, form what is commonly called the “causal shell” of an embodied person, in other words, his karmic body or the body of the Destiny of each of us. If you come out with your mental Consciousness to this specific Plan, then, with certain skills, you can consider in this multi-layered and multi-colored lace of karmic threads bright purple bundles going from each individual reincarnation capsule to the buddhic body of a person and fixing the efforts of every embodied Consciousness in a special way on his self-realization in Freedom and Love.

It is here, in all this unimaginable intricacies of karmic threads, entangling reincarnation capsules like silkworm cocoons, that a complex causal mechanism is laid that draws each Consciousness into a multistage system of manifested Worlds and puts it in precisely such circumstances that are the result of karmic reasons that inspire certain events. in the Life of every person. This mechanism gives practically unlimited opportunities for active self-realization of Consciousness in the manifested Worlds.

Considering the buddhic and causal bodies in this individual evolutionary perspective, one can see that they represent two LIKE antagonistic poles or two scales of individual cosmic scales on which the evolutionarily “raw” and “ready” parts of each of the incarnating Consciousnesses are “weighed” ... Since buddhic energies significantly surpass in their quality the astral-karmic contents of the causal body, when the predominance of the spiritual principle in the developing Consciousness is achieved, such an individual spiritual synthesis begins within Consciousness, as a result of which the causal strands dissolve.

By themselves, these causal energies - according to the Law of Cause and Effect - can neither be destroyed nor removed from the reincarnation capsule by Someone, even if by a very High will, because they themselves are not subject to destruction or diminution. If Some highly developed Cosmic Essence wished to rid some of the embodied Consciousnesses from some heavy karmic roots (which is already impossible in principle!), Then She would have to absorb these energies, automatically substituting Herself under the inexorable action of the Law Retribution.

Remember: only the creative Fire of Consciousness, ignited by the unconditional Love of an unselfish Heart and illumining a person’s Soul with the Light of Spiritual Understanding, is able to call into active action the powerful energies of the Budhic Plan and with their help dissolve the karmic fetters of the Soul, melting new levels of Beauty and Reason in the heart's Cauldron of Transmutation. The heart is that individual cosmic Crucible, in which human Consciousness, on the continuous Fire of spiritual creativity, melts for itself the highest spiritual energies that allow it to comprehensively and creatively realize itself in individual cosmic Evolution.

The Human Spiritual Heart is the only Creative Synthesizer of the energies of the budhic and causal bodies. It is it, and not the mind, as many naively believe, that forms in a person the highest pole of the mental body and the point of application of the Trinity of the Main Forces of Life - the beginning of Reason. If the creative Fire of the Heart does not burn or dies out, and instead of it, an unrestrained flame of passionate desires and a thirst for insane pleasures are inflamed in a person, then the person himself turns the creative crucible of the Heart into a real «hellish cauldron» in which he receives innumerable sufferings, and together with them - and the bitter experience of Life.

The other pole of the interaction of the energies of these two bodies (but with a causal, that is, karmic, dominant!) Is located in very subtle Matter, which forms the reality of the Area of Concrete Thought. He represents the lower pole of the mental body. This highly active pole is formed around the chakram Consciousnesses, which represent in the embodied personality its lower «ego» and, due to their underdevelopment, carry the principle of egoism (from the male principle) and the principle of ignorance, which closes access to the knowledge of Truth (from the female principle) ...

The causal body, according to the quality of its constituent Matter (Energy), cannot be called either “higher” or “lower” of any of the levels of the human mental body. It belongs to a completely special state of the Highest reality or to a certain cosmic range of vibrations that separates EVERYTHING, fundamentally not manifested, from the innumerable realities of the manifested worlds of the Physical Plane. We call this invisible and imperceptible dividing line the “Causal World”.

The causal body of a person is, in a special way, intertwined, thought-sensual quintessence, which determines the motives of all his Thoughts, feelings and actions. It is constantly saturated with the individual vital Energy of a person and is structurally transformed by his individual Will. As a result, a certain compromise arises between the opposite psychic forces, represented in the embodied personality by the chakram Consciousnesses, their more or less stable balance is established, concentrated in the person's personality.

The energies that make up the causal body are very subtly and imperceptibly woven into each of the realities of the Astral and Mental Plane, creating in them new opportunities for the self-realization of the Consciousnesses in them in Love and Harmony. It is simply impossible to describe the reality itself, called the «Causal World», because it completely lacks those familiar to people, archetypes and symbols that would help to somehow identify the meaning and activity of energies creating THERE with concepts and categories that are close to us ...

Afterword

All of us are only temporarily isolated units of the Mind of the Universe, following the path of our individual Evolution. And each, carrying within himself the Spark of God, the Spark of living Life, approached the point of perfection where his Soul could go through the hard path of its karmic liberation. Not a single external influence is capable of giving a person what he can melt for himself in the hot furnace of his own Heart, inflamed with Love.

True Wisdom is never given easily and admission to the higher levels of the Cosmic Treasury of Truth is received only by those Consciousnesses who, through an individual way of endlessly stubborn work, were able to overcome absolutely all the refined temptations of both manifested and subtle realities of earthly Life, always remaining faithful followers of the Highest Ideas of Spiritual Light and steady followers of inner Harmony. Therefore, those who suppose that just physical stay near a highly advanced "Teacher" will be enough for a quick introduction to the Source of the high Truth are naive. Personally, this seems all the more ridiculous to me, because I KNOW for certain that most of the so-called. the incarnated newly minted «Avatars», «Teachers» are in fact just the pitiful fruits of their own imagination, inflamed to fantastic levels.

Observing their dull Auras, abundantly littered with unprecedented ambition and tremendous self-importance, I feel somewhat sorry for their gullible students (although I perfectly understand all the evolutionary expediency of such a relationship!), Naively dangling next to them in the hope of a quick spiritual take-off. You cannot "enter Paradise on someone else's hump," - spiritual maturity is acquired only by persistent, long-suffering and arduous aspiration of the Soul to the Light for many hundreds and even thousands of incarnations in various types of reality.

Many readers of my books annoy me with personal phone calls, others travel thousands of kilometers to ask their selfish questions, while others ask to be allowed to change their place of residence in order to move to live closer to me and be able to "stay in my Aura".

Dear ones! I remind in almost every of my books that I have absolutely nothing to do with the so-called. To the "ascended Masters", being neither a "Master" or an "Adept" for anyone. I am not any Messiah and not even a Teacher, but rather a Friend and Brother for each of those who are close to the information that comes through me. Few people as much as I understand that all these contrived titles and pompous titles have no meaning in the realities in which I am during my out-of-body exits.

My personal merit consists only in the fact that I just try to honestly do what I MUST do during my incarnation in this type of reality. I am one of the thousands of Wanderers of Eternity, studying in Time and outside Time the endless expanses of the mysterious Unknown.

I don't lecture, I don't practice healing, and I don't give "Spirituality lessons"

- there are millions of others for that. My help to people is in special energy-informational codes embedded through my Consciousness by the Spiritual Teachers of Sirius and the Pleiades in the texts of each of my books, through which you receive the highest quality vibrations into your astrosomes and learn the correct answers to the most important life lessons.

Executed in the form of powerful mental Thought forms, the information codes in my books are a unique opportunity, without forcing Consciousness at all, to influence, as it were, "from the outside" (although the whole process takes place deep in the subconscious!) Not only on the level of your awareness, but also on your genes and chromosomes, as a result of which your DNA, having received a powerful evolutionary impulse from specially encoded alleles, can begin to mutate very quickly, rapidly unfolding the strands of its spirals from two to twelve! Perhaps this influence alone from a careful study of my books is a hundred times more important than thousands of lectures and hundreds of individual meetings.

Therefore, I ask you very much: you do not need to bother yourself or me, coming to me (and even more so permanently moving to Yalta for this!) Individually and in whole groups, so that, having taken me away from generally useful creative work for several hours, personally receive answers to my endless selfish questions - there is nothing in my books that I could not say to any person in person.

If you want to fulfill the task of your current incarnation, you need not grieve over the absence of an "individual

Teacher", but find in yourself so much Joy and Love that will allow you to independently ascend much higher than the World of chimeras and illusions, to where there is no sorrow, no suffering. Think not about temporary human forms, but rather develop all the courage, all the power of Love and the memory of eternity, so that at any moment you will be ready to joyfully send your ship, unsinkable by anything, on further voyage across other, Spiritual Worlds.

With Love and Light -
Your Brother Oris.
